

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

The C. M. A. C., originally known as "L'Association Catholique," was organized just 25 years ago and on May 12 will observe its silver jubilee. The organization was a success from its infancy and started its career with a series of concerts and dramatic entertainments that drew large and appreciative audiences. The sum of a quarter of a century ago has the following report of one of its earliest efforts:

"The Association Catholique presented the grand opera, 'Pharaoh's Daughter,' in Huntington hall, Tuesday evening, and in every particular the performance was a triumphal success."

"Quite a number of foreign-born occupied the boxes and enjoyed the opera. The chorus was made up of 15 young ladies and 20 young men, and made a powerful volume of melody. The cast was as follows:

Pharaoh, King of Egypt, M. Al. Rancourt.
Cressida, Pharaoh's daughter, Miss Rebecca Gill.
Rhodane, Egyptian high priest, Dr. A. Vincette.
Nephthys, captain of the royal guard, M. A. Bernier.
Sarah, Moses' Mother, Miss Anselma Cote.
Lea, Moses' sister, Miss Mahony Mudge.
Moses, M. B. Gault.
Miss Melaine Piquoy.

"All the characters were finely portrayed."

on, the singing and acting showing great cultivation. Mr. P. E. Haggerty directed the musical numbers and did much in making the opera a success. Mr. Ed. Vincette presided at the piano."

In another column the old Sun says: "The first weekly concert under the auspices of L'Association Catholique was held Sunday evening. Those who took part were Misses Theron, Constantineau, Bergeron, Sara Bouchon, Laura and M. L. Renaud and Messrs. Cyrille Constantineau, Martel, Cote and H. Girard."

Prof. Haggerty, the veteran musical director, is a familiar figure on the street every day, while Alphonse Bouchon is still actively engaged as school director at Notre Dame de Lourdes church, at the age of 72 years. Ed Vincette was well known and decidedly popular in this city in those days and if you ever go to Ottawa look him up for he is now an official translator for the house of parliament of Canada, and by the way, associated with him in a similar position is our old newspaper friend, "Charlie" Bouchon, formerly of this city. They are both making good in first class positions.

Ward Seven Politics

If you ever lived in the ward 7 area, you know it was a hot spot.

must have met Cyrille Constantineau, who for many years was prominent in ward 7 politics and was one of the "Bill" Hayes' strongest lieutenants. In order to get Cyrille's goat one needs only to say that Cyrille claimed to carry the French vote around in his pocket. In the memorable battle for the legislature between W. H. J. Hayes and ex-Senator James McKelvey, which was won by the latter by the narrow margin of seven votes with a drop of three on the record, Cyrille, Sam Shaw and the late Edgar Hall conspired to help Hayes, and there were many a campaign and caucus like it before or since. It was naturally a republican caucus, but everybody on the block had voted except two men who were unavailably detained in jail and one other who had his wife send a letter of protest, stating in the doctors had decided that he couldn't live overnight and because he thought it would be his last night in his own home, he had reluctantly decided not to attend the caucus but hoped in the near future to look down upon his friends seated in the halls of the legislature. Walter Gauthier was chairman and Harry W. J. Hayes was secretary. There was great excitement throughout and at one time when it became necessary for the secretary to sit on the ballot box, he took the wind out of the most of the party by calmly drawing forth from his pocket a box of champagne which he started to eat with evident enjoyment and without the least concern for the waiting caucus that were transfixed around him. The Hayes faction had a challenging committee headed by "Joe" Smith, whose duties were to challenge any democratic "bribe" who might attempt to vote, that is to say, who might attempt to vote for McKelvey. That challenging committee job was no sinecure, for there were as many Hayes democrats "bribe" in as there were McKelvey "bribe" and the committee had to exercise rare discrimination in separating the wheat from the chaff. As the evening progressed a man stepped within the hall and got a ballot. As he approached the ballot box someone whispered: "Look at that guy. He just got out of jail. He was sent up for beating his wife."

"He shall be challenged on general principles," promptly declared "Joe" Smith. "Any man who beats his wife does not belong in a respectable republican caucus. I have known republicans who were beats, but not wife-beaters." And the vote was challenged. Cyrille Constantineau is now in the west engaged in the real estate business and is prospering.

Wanted: $450,000 for a City Hall

It has been generally admitted that the construction of the present city hall was one memorable occasion on which the city got a money's worth. It was built under the direction of a commission composed of the following well known citizens: Charles D. Walker, George W. Plimley, John J. Plimley, John P. Phillips, Prentiss Webster, Geo. Rundles, John E. Howe, John Welch, James B. Francis, Albert A. Haggerty, William E. Livingston and Francis C. Plimley.

Just a quarter of a century ago these commissioners were looking around for the money with which to construct the new municipal building for the old Sun says:

"The city hall commissioners held a lengthy meeting Monday and discussed the amount of money needed for the erection of the new city hall. After considerable discussion the commissioners decided to request the committee on finance to recommend to the city council a loan of $450,000 of which $200,000 would be for the city hall and $250,000 for the memorial building. Of that sum, $100,000 would be used this year and next year the legislature would be asked to allow the city to make a 30 years' loan for the remainder. The present limit of the city's indebtedness is $600,000. If the city council declines the loan asked for the commissioners will select plans in accordance with the sum named by the council. In asking for the $450,000, the public men want the building constructed on a no-nonsense plan, but want the best that money can get. They ask for the large amount so that they will not have to have their wants curtailed by lack of money. If the council does not desire to spend so much money, the commissioners will govern themselves according to the amount given."

They received the desired amount and erected a building that is a credit to the city.

Dick Conway's Palmy Days

While I hesitate to place a man of such youthful appearance as Dick Conway, the old time ball player, in the "old" class, still as he was a shining star in baseball for many years ago, I must say a word about him. The Sun of a quarter of a century ago has the following:

"We understand that Dick Conway will be given a great reception when he appears on the Riverside grounds with Worcester. The Crescent club will present him a silver service and the Worcester Turnpike Institute will give him a gold watch. It will cost about $200 for these presents."

The presentation of the silver service at that time was most appropriate for Dick was married in the year previous, April 10, 1888, and the old Sun had the following account of his wedding:

"The marriage of Richard Conway, pitcher of the Boston baseball team, took place Tuesday evening in St. Mary's church, Lawrence, Rev. Fr. Kelly officiating. The bride, Miss Katie Monille, now with the New Orleans team, was made good behind the bat. He is now in business in Lawrence. Dick stayed in the game with his arm went bad. I recall one cold, wet night long ago, when the skating rink in the Moxie building in Middlesex street was in full bloom, the enterprising managers of the rink had advertised that Dick Conway and the late Mike Kelly, the '$10,000 beauty' who had been at that time but recently purchased from Chicago by the Boston Nationals, would give an exhibition of battery work at the rink. Every fan in Lowell turned out in the night to see them, but it was only a 'pipe,' neither one of them put in an appearance and perhaps the fans didn't 'holler.'"

I saw Dick and Mike Kelly perform in a most remarkable game on the old South End grounds when Richard was burning them over to beat the world. It was on the morning of Memorial day 'some' years ago and Boston was playing New York. If I remember rightly, Mike Tiernan was the pitcher of the Giants. Boston went first to bat and at the end of the ninth the score was 9 to 5 and the extra inning was necessary. In the 10th the home team did an awful job on the New York pitcher, with three-liners and home runs galore, scoring 10 runs in the extra inning, the game closing with Boston a winner, 19 to 5. I nearly fell out of Sullivan's tower roosting for Dick.

Although at that time I had no idea that we would ever become persons, I would not have been overjoyed at having knocked the longest home run hit in the history of baseball. He swatted the ball on the South End grounds in Boston and it was recovered in Providence, R. I. 50 miles away. Dick knocked the ball over the left-field fence. The Boston and Albany tracks run along the outside of that fence. A freight train bound for Providence was passing at the time and the ball landed in through the open door of one of the cars and was not recovered until the train stopped at Providence. Some fact!

Sullivan's Tower
The younger generation of Lowell fans will probably wonder what is meant by Sullivan's tower. It has long since gone out of existence, and it remained for a mighty conflagration to kill it, after the Boston Baseball Association had tried unsuccessfully for years to put it out of commission. Along the right field fence of the South End grounds were a number of tenement houses and the towers there-

WHY GREAT ADVERTISERS USE Victor Typewriters

WHEN you go into big mail order houses, where every order must go out the day it is received; where thousands of letters are answered daily; where the manifold must give perfect copies; where every typewriter must do its duty eight, ten, twelve and more hours every day, and find VICTOR Typewriters in use—there is a big reason for it.

When such an institution as the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, the biggest institution of its kind in the world, buys 7500 VICTOR Typewriters for the use of its students in all parts of the world—there is a good reason for it.

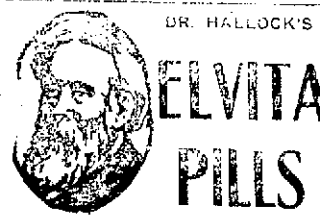

When big newspaper offices, big magazine publishing houses, big mercantile concerns, public stenographers and business and professional men use VICTOR Typewriters and are recommending them to super-eede other makes—there is a commercial reason for it.

Those reasons are—

The VICTOR Typewriter does not get out of alignment.
It has a complete interchangeable platen.
It has a decimal tabulator and billing device built in every machine without extra cost.
It cuts ribbon expenses in half.

We can prove the superiority of the VICTOR over any other typewriter in a five-minute demonstration. Your interests demand an investigation.

While Landing at Vera

Marines

Foster Putney of Els-

esting Letter

Foster Putney of Elsmere

FOSTER PUTNEY OF ELSMERE

One of the most interesting accounts of the landing at Vera Cruz that has appeared in any paper is the one in the letter above, below which was recently received by Mrs. Foster Putney of Elsmere, Vermont, from her husband, who is stationed on board the U. S. S. Vermont, now doing duty in Mexican waters.

Mr. Putney's letter appears in August of this year. It has been a great deal since joining the navy, having been assigned to the U. S. S. Albatross, which was assigned to duty at the time of the "Black" disaster. He was stationed on the ship when she was detailed to bring home the bodies of the sailors from the U. S. S. Maine which was raised in Havana harbor and was there at the naval yard of that port.

Mr. Putney recently returned from the trip to Vera Cruz, in which time he had been participating. Mr. Putney is very enthusiastic over the treatment and the opportunities for advancement that the navy offers.

Mr. Putney's letter is as follows:

U. S. S. Vermont,
Vera Cruz, Mexico,
April 20, 1914.

Dear Father—Just a short letter from our part in the recent skirmishes which took place at Vera Cruz from April 22 to April 26th.

On the 21st of the month we left Hampton Roads and our destination was supposed to be Tampico, but on the third day our orders were changed and we were instructed to change our course and go to Vera Cruz.

During our passage from the Roads to this port we were at drill all day and the 22nd night and we were also very busy getting our field pieces and rapid fire guns into good working order for we knew not what we were to do upon our arrival in port.

We entered Vera Cruz on the night of the 23rd and then (before being started for our shoulder our knapsacks, loaded with the bolts and cartridges and good for a quick landing. At 2 o'clock in the morning we were given a light lunch and at 2:30 we were loaded into cutters and shoved off for the beach.

The artillery landed first and went up the street for nearly a block before anything happened and then it started very suddenly and the machine guns started firing in a few or our shipmates. We were the next to land and the Mexicans started firing at us before we were fully out of the boats. But we quickly fell into company formation and returned the fire. The Mexicans then started firing at us from the street toward the custom house, which we had been instructed to seize and guard. We came into an open square and were met by volleys from horsemen and windows and every conceivable place that a man could get behind to fire from. Our boys were taken by surprise but soon returned the compliment and captured a number of houses and killed 67 Mexicans during this skirmish.

We continued our course toward the custom house and toward the artillery on the beach, so under the fire we went in and battered the doors down and took possession of all the goods stored in the custom house and turned so many prisoners over to the company that followed us.

The sun was now high in the heavens and beat down on us so that it seemed as though we would drop from exhaustion but we kept on and made for the naval college, which we took with the loss of a few men killed and several wounded. One of our boys was killed and as we proceeded for better cover he was left lying there for nearly two hours before we could take him off.

The afternoon was taken up in capturing the military barracks and their contents, and then we went back and water and the hospital corps band up the wounded and took a few of the wounded to the temporary hospital which had been made in an empty building.

After this we went out into the outskirts of the city as we had been informed that the rebel forces were coming into the city. We made camp at midnight and passed our nights for the night and the men off water lay down upon the sandhills and allowed the sand to dry upon them until 1 o'clock when reveille was sounded and the company was formed for our day's march. Breakfast was eaten as we marched and you can imagine that the bill of fare was very slim and that there were no fresh vegetables on the table.

At 10 o'clock we landed and a few minutes later we were in possession of the town and soon had everything under control. We were then ordered to go to the beach and there we were met by a large number of our shipmates and the company from the Albatross which had been ordered to land at the same time. We then proceeded to the beach and there we were met by a large number of our shipmates and the company from the Albatross which had been ordered to land at the same time. We then proceeded to the beach and there we were met by a large number of our shipmates and the company from the Albatross which had been ordered to land at the same time.

On the 24th we went into the city and captured the military barracks and their contents, and then we went back and water and the hospital corps band up the wounded and took a few of the wounded to the temporary hospital which had been made in an empty building.

Sick Women Made Well

Reliable evidence is abundant that women are constantly being restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The many testimonial letters that we are continually publishing in the newspapers—hundreds of them—are all genuine, true and unsolicited expressions of heartfelt gratitude for the freedom from suffering that has come to these women solely through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Money could not buy nor any kind of influence obtain such recommendations; you may depend upon it that any testimonial we publish is honest and true—if you have any doubt of this write to the women whose true names and addresses are always given, and learn for yourself.

Read this one from Mrs. Waters:

CAMDEN, N.J.—"I was sick for two years with nervous spells, and my kidneys were affected. I had a doctor all the time and used a galvanic battery, but nothing did me any good. I was not able to go to bed, but spent my time on a couch or in a sleeping chair, and soon became almost a skeleton. Finally my doctor went away for his health, and my husband heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got me some. In two months I got relief and now I am like a new woman and am at my usual weight. I recommend your medicine to every one, and so does my husband."—Mrs. TILLIE WATERS, 1135 Knight St., Camden, N.J.

And this one from Mrs. Haddock:

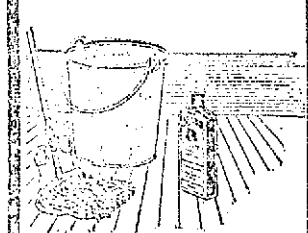

UTICA, ORE.—"I was weak and nervous, not able to do my work and scarcely able to be on my feet. I had backache, headache, palpitation of the heart, trouble with my bowels, and inflammation. Since taking the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am better than I have been for twenty years. I think it is a wonderful medicine and I have recommended it to others."—Mrs. MAUR ANN HADDOCK, Utica, Oklahoma.

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman continue to suffer without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, which contains no narcotics or harmful drugs; it has restored so many suffering women to health.

James Carney's Close Call
James Carney, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Carney of 56 Pond Street, is another of the local boys who has seen active service at Mexico, and the young man wrote to his mother recently, telling of his thrilling experiences at the scene of the Mexican trouble.

Mr. Carney is well known in this city having resided in it here all his life. This is his second enlistment in the service of his country and he is stationed aboard the battleship New Hampshire.

In the letter to his mother he says:
Vera Cruz, Mexico,
April 26, 1914.

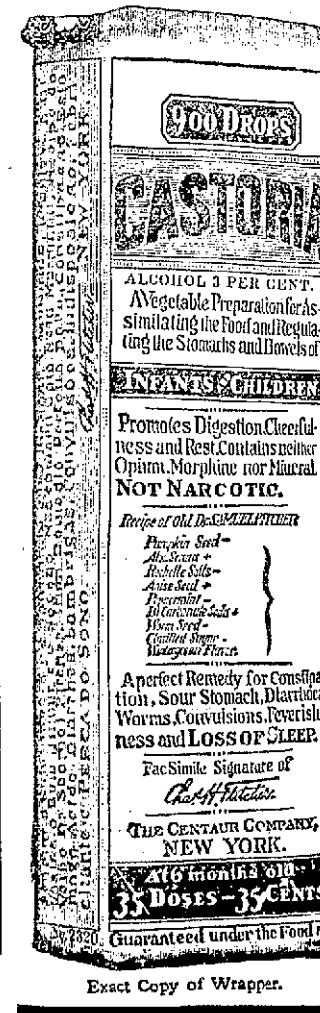

Dear Mother:

Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and still among the "boys of the line" and not injured in any way as yet. I had a close call in the siege of Vera Cruz, a bullet wounding my arm through my sleeve. But that is about as close as the Mexicans can come to hitting you, so don't worry. Don't fear for my safety. The firing has now ceased and we are in hopes that everything will turn out all right. If we have to have war you can trust the boys of the U. S. navy to do their part in upholding the honor of their country.

We captured the city of Vera Cruz in very short time. The only loss to our boys occurred when we ran into an ambush, and which resulted in four boys lost and ten wounded. We are all mending the city and have all right on a plant job, so don't mind my scribbling. We can't buy stamps here, and we send our letters in this way by writing our names on the top of the envelope. Tell the boys I of-fer them of them and give them my best regards. Good-bye, dear mother, and don't miss you. Write soon and love from your loving son,
J. J. Carney.

P. S.: I pray for you every day. The Mexican Herald in its account of the battle says:—As the regimental staff saw the New Hampshire's battalions turned the corner of the street, a terrible fire was opened on them from every angle, and it was only due to the poor marksmanship of the Mexicans that the staff and battalion were not mowed down. The New Hampshire's battalion returned the fire, dropping people on the pavement and taking shelter behind the sides of buildings. Under cover of the New Hampshire's are the other battalions of the regiment retired to an open field and deployed as skirmishers. The fire of the men from the battleship New Hampshire was deadly, and the Mexicans were soon lying for their lives.

NATURALIZED CITIZENS

There is a disposition in some quarters to criticize the stand taken by Mayor Curley of Boston a few days ago when on being confronted with Swift's army of the unemployed he asked them how many of them were American citizens. But there are others of the question that deserve to be studied by all who dwell on immigration and by students of political economy. At the outset one may be tempted to regard the mayor's question as being capricious or unimportant, but on second thought it turns out to be a very pertinent question indeed.

Whatever one may think of Mayor Curley either personally or politically, all must admit that he is a young man of marked ability and keen intellect, and to such a man the insincerity of the unemployed army leaders must have been apparent. He must have known, too, that those who would sow the seeds of sedition usually strive to get a hearing in the ranks of the foreign worker who because of his ignorance of American customs and institutions, is more likely to be led astray than the man who takes a personal interest in public affairs. Besides this class there are the lucky few individuals who are desirous of reaping the industrial advantages of this country while neglecting the opportunity of becoming good citizens of America. The fewness of the hands displayed when Mayor Curley asked all citizens to declare themselves proved that Swift's army has a majority gathered from the above types.

America and all countries have duties to perform for their workers, but they have also legitimate demands to make, among them being that they who would profit by our institutions shall become naturalized citizens. Until foreign-born people do this they cannot be a full sympathy with American ideals, and they are not in the main a desirable class. Any man who may feel that this country is not quite good enough for him—and we all know a few such—should never have left his own country. It is fortunate for his peace of mind that he cannot see how ill-fitted his position is.

Even from the purely selfish point of view it is most desirable that foreigners who come here should at the earliest possible opportunity become naturalized citizens and take a part in American public affairs. The humblest worker becomes a power with the ballot in his hands and if he has a grievance he may hope to right it in part by the calm ways of law. American labor troubles though often acute are usually transitory owing to the fact that our public systems lead men to hope for improvement and get them interested in securing them. When all our foreign groups realize this they will see the uselessness of following insincere and sensational mountebanks and they will apply themselves to the task of wiping out industrial abuses by the methods applied in the past by American-born citizens—the methods of the ballot, used wisely after open discussion.

TRIBUTE TO OUR DEAD

One who sees the usual soldiers' lots in all our cemeteries or the national cemetery at Arlington will realize that the nation intends to remember and respect its dead in a very special manner, but except to the descendants of those so honored, it is hard to regard such resting places with anything but a feeling of patriotism. Very different, however, is the attitude of the country towards the tribute which was paid yesterday to the young marines who died at Vera Cruz. The president of the United States left all his important official duties behind him and went to New York to place a wreath symbolical of the country's gratitude on the brows of the dead, and for the next day or two the different sections from which the patriotic marines went forth will honor each in an especial manner. A month ago they were only "soldiers"; today they are heroes. What a strange power lies in the bullet of an enemy!

To the families and immediate friends of the dead who have been sent home from Mexico with all the honor that a grateful and sorrowing country may show the sympathy of the entire people will be in full measure, but when the first flush of sad pride is past, the plaudits of the multitude will avail but little. War is a very different thing to the mother who sits beside a casket and to the unthinking enthusiast who burns up with zeal to go out in defense of his country and his flag. What the difference is comes home yearly to the enlightened people of all countries with renewed force, and it is probable that a full realization of it will come day in the future when in the abolishing of war as a means of settling the disputes of nations, war is a sad and, as yet, a necessary heritage of a barbarous age.

When finally the Mexican situation is cleared and when people may discuss it without bringing in all the side issues that inflame passion or prejudice, posterity will pay a high tribute to the prudence and foresight of the administration in striving to settle the present controversy without embroiling the country in a costly and thankless war. Those who shout loudly for armed intervention are not the men who would fight and fall, but from such intervention would follow a trail of sorrow that would reach every city and town of importance in the entire country. Well advised it is that so many stand ready to take the place of Haggerty of Cambridge and the sixteen other names who fell when the United States advanced on the Mexican coast, but the families of those who died will hope, and people generally will hope, that despite the appeals of its name, other families will be spared the pains suffered by the relatives of the dead who died so well.

GOVERNOR ON PARDONS

Owing to the great number of pardons issued by Governor Fess during his term of office, the sentiments of Governor Walsh in this regard, voiced last Sunday in Charlestown state prison, will be followed with marked interest. That Governor Walsh is as much in sympathy with the problems of prisoners as was his predecessor is very evident, but it is also apparent that he will be more conservative in the testing of pardons. Though the extremely humanitarian and the richly old fashioned may not be entirely satisfied with his expressed views is possible, but on the whole he seems to have taken a just and wise view of the prison problems of Massachusetts. The main argument in the governor's address is that in weighing whether he should extend executive clemency or not, he will be swayed by the influence of the action on others. "I want you to know," he said to the prisoners, "that if I could find good cause and good reason, and do no injustice to any other man, there is not a man here that I would not be glad to give his liberty."

What in this case does "injustice" include? Frequently pardons are held up because of the personal opposition of the injured party or a relative of the injured party. Those who so object undoubtedly feel that a pardon of the prisoner would be an injustice. But there is also the possible injustice to society which is merely a collection of individuals. In the strict interpretation of the governor's ideas, therefore, we may assume that in weighing the merits or demerits of the case involved he will not forget that apart from the personal side of the matter there is always the basic requirement that before a prisoner is released, the rights of society must be conserved.

KNOX AGAINST REPEAL

The argument of Philander C. Knox, who espouses the cause of those who protest against the repeal of the tolls clause of the Panama canal act is a learned and weighty one, but it seems to avoid the controversial matter and emphasizes a secondary issue. In other words Mr. Knox wants to exempt the American ships from tolls because he considers that we have the right to do so if we choose, but he does not succeed in beating down the assertion of Senator Lodge that though we have the right, it is not well that we should exercise the right. To do something that would be disadvantageous to this country politically and economically does not seem good policy, especially when it is certain that in repealing the clause protested against, this country gives up no right, treaty or otherwise. The tolls exemption clause seems doubly undesirable when it is apparent that any dubious good it may have could be served in another and less offensive manner were such the will of the country at a later date.

PROTECTING THE CHILDREN

The life of a child in summer is just as important as in winter and yet though the city has made provision for the saving of lives in the winter time of skating, little or no provision has been made to safeguard the thousands of little chaps that will use the canals and rivers in the near future. The call of cool waters, during the sultry months so soon to come is a call too strong to be resisted by juveniles and it is too bad that one may now count on the certainty of more than one death unless the city takes some means of protecting the little.

A Trip to California Has Been Placed Within Your Reach

Why not make a reservation on one of the Burlington Route's "Sunshine" Conducted Parties to California? If you would like to make this trip under unusually attractive conditions and at an especially low cost, I would like to hear from you right away. You can travel with a select party and with all the comforts of a Pullman Touring Sleeping Car throughout—and at minimum cost. A carefully trained man will accompany the party all the way. You will find him to be thoroughly competent, good-natured and kindly, as he has been especially selected because of his knack for making people comfortable, as well as because of his long experience. You will be especially interested in parties that take the form of a "trip" or "write" and I will gladly explain all the details. Let Stocks, New England Passenger Agent, C. R. & Q. R. R. 284 Washington st., Boston.

swimmers. To swim in the dirty waters of the canal and parts of the river is of itself offensive to contemplate, but when one realizes that hundreds have been drowned in the past ten or fifteen years, it is nothing short of criminal that protective measures have not been adopted which would allow the swimmers to swim under proper supervision and without danger of losing their lives.

It seems out of the question to hope for any form of municipal baths while the officials of the city government are in their present "economical" state of mind, but the city is not rich enough to pay for the scores that have been lost for lack of municipal provision. Until such time, then, as we can get some form of public swimming bath in the open, would it not be possible to restrict the swimmers to some definite sections and to see that such places are adequately policed? If such a thing is not done speedily we may look forward to the usual drowning incidents that are a yearly reproach to Lowell.

RE-MAKING A STREET

Commercial Boston is rejoicing at the improvement of Avery street, a narrow thoroughfare in the heart of the business section for the development of which many individuals and organizations have been fighting for a long time. The improvement is a notable example of what must be done in re-planning a city when "city planning" was neglected at its foundation. What was a narrow and unsightly alley will soon be a broad and prosperous business street allowing freedom for traffic and splendid business opportunities. At the present time the improvement seems like destruction rather than construction for much undesirable property must be removed before the new Avery street is ready for business. Avery street is only an indication of what will happen sometime in the vicinity of our own city places are adequately policed? If such a thing is not done speedily we may look forward to the usual drowning incidents that are a yearly reproach to Lowell.

Good Cheer Aids Digestion of Food

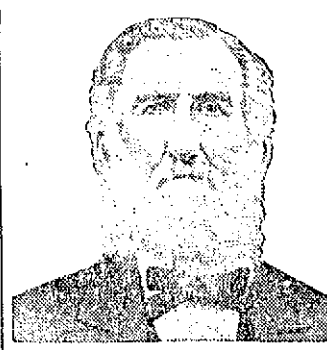

Dyspepsia Can Make the Best of the Family Happy by Using a Laxative-Tonic

The temper of the family and the used cheer around the table depend so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experience of some former dyspepsia who have overcome their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way. The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one known to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, aids gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

Major S. Martin, of Joplin, Mo., now 72, thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped him to a longer and happier life. He has not felt so good in years as he has since taking this excellent medicine, and in spite of his 72 years he says he feels like a boy.

It is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how severe; constipation, flatulency, bowels, biliousness, nervousness, and on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for 25 cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel instills the means to normal.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

The McDougal went on the course at 7 a. m., gradually increasing her speed from eight knots to maximum which, on the four hour run, must exceed 20 1/2 knots. As the destroyer already has excelled the latter speed on her monthly trials, the builders had no concern as to this week's results.

M'DONUGAL IS ON TRIAL

TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER BUILT BY THE BIRMINGHAM SHIPBUILDING CO. ACCEPTANCE TRIALS

ROCKLAND, Me., May 12—Scheduled for 26 runs over the measured mile course, the torpedo boat destroyer McDougal, today began the first of the series of builders' acceptance trials. Today's work was for the purpose of standardizing the propellers, which is necessary before the endurance trials can be held.

HERBERT H. RUSSELL RESIGNS FROM PARK BOARD—ELECTED TO SUCCEED HARVEY B. GREENE

Herbert H. Russell has resigned from the park board to which he was elected a few days ago. He tendered his resignation to Mayor Murphy yesterday afternoon and while Mr. Russell has no explanation to offer to the public, it is believed that he resigned rather than bring about the election of a foreman for the park department, the purpose of it is alleged, for which he was elected.

Mr. Russell's brief letter of resignation to the mayor was as follows: Lowell, Mass., May 11, 1914. Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, Mayor, City of Lowell.

Dear Sir—I wish herewith to tender my resignation as a member of the park commission of the city of Lowell, and resignation to take effect forthwith. Very truly yours,

Herbert H. Russell.

LOCAL MILL SITUATION

Uncertainty From Tariff Changes Affects Business But Mill Men See Good Times Ahead

What is the outlook in the local mills for the summer season? was asked a Sun representative today and at once he set out to find the answer.

The mills are at present adjusting their business to the new tariff and of course the transition period is one of more or less uncertainty.

While none of the mill officials claimed that the outlook was what might be termed very prosperous, yet they were at least declaring that it is not at all discouraging and at least two of them remarked that Lowell was better off than other textile cities inasmuch as the tariff does not affect mills making coarse goods nearly as much as mills making very fine goods. In fact one of the mill men said he understood that mills manufacturing fine goods are thinking seriously of turning over to coarser goods.

The local mills are not running full in all of their departments, but in some of the mills certain departments are being rushed to the limit. The blanket department of the Tremont & Suffolk mills for instance is running day and night, while some other departments are about normal.

All of the departments of the Appleton and Hamilton mills are not running full, but the plants are being extended and while it is generally conceded that the profits are not very great, there is no such thing as apprehension of a general curtailment. "We are curtailing more or less at the present time," said one of the mill men, "but we do not anticipate anything worse. The mills are not making any money at the present time, but we will pull through all right unless we should encounter serious labor trouble and there isn't any reason to expect it judging from the present outlook. The mill operatives in this city are loyal, as a rule, and they realize that the mills will not inflict any hardship upon them that can possibly be avoided.

"I do not know of a mill in Lowell that is seriously hampered at the present time," said a prominent mill man. "I presume the fleet may be experiencing some difficulty, but it will not amount to much. The stockholders have voted to raise more money and I will be raised all right. We would all like to see conditions better than they are at present and personally I feel that conditions will show a big improvement within a few months."

Bigelow Carpet Co.

It cannot be said that business is booming at the local mills of the Bigelow Carpet Co., but the market value of the stock has reached 176 1/2 as against 155 a year ago, and this is due, it is stated, to an additional surplus of about $1,600,000 discovered by the present temporary treasurer. The carpet mills are running on short time and there isn't anything to warrant one in believing that there is any great, big rush in sight. The situation, to make a long story short, is still awaiting one, and yet underneath it all there is a growing feeling that the country cannot refrain much longer from buying its absolute wants which the increasing all the time because of the economy of the past.

When the new currency bill will have taken effect there will be a great loosening up of capital that will benefit the people generally and then if not before business is expected to boom.

Complex Dividend Record

A dividend record of the Lowell Manufacturing corporations as compiled by James M. Abbott, investment banker, 9 Central street, is not altogether encouraging. The circular has been compiled to show the dividend record for the last 25 years of leading Lowell manufacturing corporations, the stocks of which are dealt in on the Boston and Lowell markets. The present par and market value, the amount of capital, the dividend months, the dates of incorporation and reorganization and the kind of goods manufactured are also indicated.

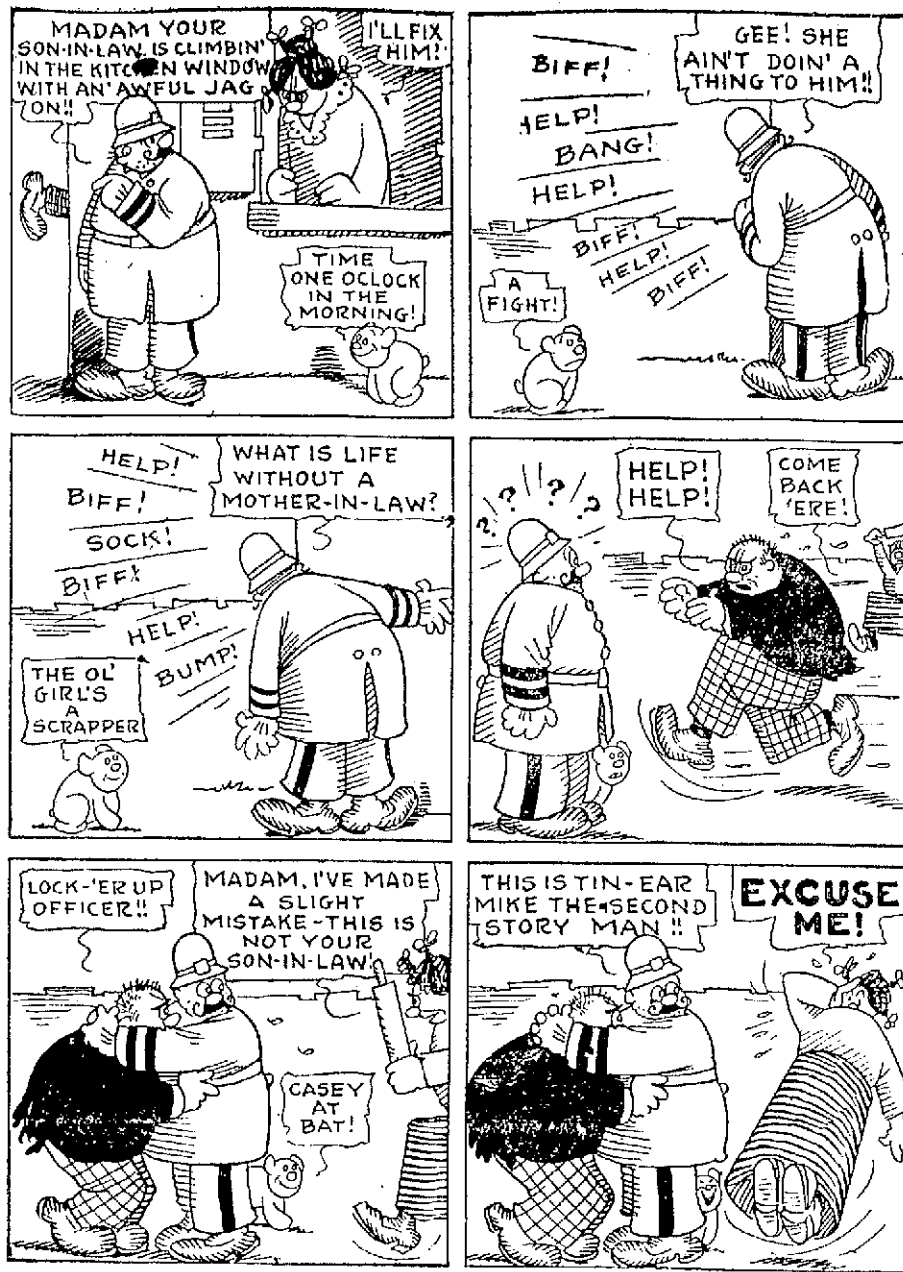

The column devoted to 1914 dividends up to date is pretty light and with very few exceptions the market value of the mill stock shows a decrease as compared with a year ago. The Appleton Co. shows an increase from 172 to 200 and the Massachusetts from 113 to 115. The Beatt mills has fallen off from $8 to 75, the Hamilton from $8 to 35, the Lawrence Mfg. Co. from 135 to 154, Lowell bleachers from 130 to 125, Lowell hosiery from 26 to 25, Merrimack from $9 to $8, preferred, and 32 to 25 common; Shaw Stocking Co. from 75 to 77 and the Tremont & Suffolk from 110 to 101. This of course is due to the effect of the uncertainty resulting from the tariff changes and once the readjustment period shall have passed, an upward tendency will result.

A Quarterly Statement

In Fall River and New Bedford there are issued quarterly statements of mill dividends, but such statement is not issued in this city. In the Fall River Globe of Saturday there appears a synopsis of the quarterly statement and the report states that the mill earnings in that city fell off a little more than $22,000 from those of the corresponding period of the previous year.

The ex-western leaguer is slender although he carries beef enough to be steady to shoot the ball on the low to the catcher. Wacoh was born and brought up in California and now lives in Pasadena. Greenhalge was "brought" among the hills of Pennsylvania and is now a student at Lehigh University. He adopted the name "Shubert" when he started with the local club so that he still might take part in college athletics instead of being barred as a professional. His right name, however, has been printed this season in some of the papers and when he returns to college next fall he will probably be barred from the football squad. He was a varsity quarterback last year. Both catchers are youngsters, neither one of them having yet the right to cast a vote. This is Greenhalge's second year in professional baseball while Wacoh has been playing baseball for three seasons. There is a great chance that both of these catchers will be seen in faster company than Chase.

swap two-hand punches at Augusta, Me., on Thursday night before the members of the boxing club in that city. It will be a battle between two hard hitting boys who are always anxious to exchange with an opponent. Glover is picked as the favorite in the two six-round affairs.

At Abington on Friday night Young Jasper will meet Tommy Quill in another bout which will be watched with interest. Kid Alberts, on the same night, will stack up against the real thing in Syracuse when he meets Mike Williams. From the street it looks as though Alberts was in a suicidal frame of mind but you never can tell.

The winner of the Shubert-Boyle bout will probably be matched the following week with Kid Chackas of Manchester. Chackas gave Young Morgan a severe mauling last week up there and looks like a real contender for premier honors in New England among the boys in his class.

Gardner Brooks will try his skill against the aggressiveness of Johnnie O'Brien Friday night before the University A. C. of Cambridge. The local boy should be in good shape for the bout as he has been working out with Phiney Boyle for the past week.

The main bout Friday night at Cambridge ought to be a bumper. Johnnie Gallant and Terry Brooks are booked as the undercarders and there is always something stirring from start to finish whenever either of this pair puts up his hands.

Billy Brooks, brother of Gardner Brooks, will box Johnny Duffy Thursday night in one of the preliminaries to the Phiney-Boyle-Al Shubert affair. Duffy is a tough customer and the local youngster will have to keep his head with him throughout the performance if he expects to be awarded the verdict.

THE PINK BOLL WORM

PUBLIC HEARINGS TO BE HELD TO RESTRICT IMPORTATIONS OF LINT COTTON

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Public hearings will be held at the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., on May 14th on three proposed measures to limit the entry and manufacture of foreign lint cotton to the northern states. These measures, the department experts say, are made necessary by the danger of the introduction of the pink boll worm, one of the most serious cotton pests known. Since Hawaii is already infested with the worm, cotton from this territory will be included in the restriction.

It is also proposed to prohibit shipment of foreign lint cotton from the northern states to the south for use in southern cotton mills. The inconvenience that this measure will cause mill owners is said to be insignificant compared with the evil that would be wrought should the pink boll worm once establish itself in the cotton regions of the south.

This insect is found in India, the Straits settlements, Ceylon, Burma, German East Africa, Egypt and the Hawaiian Islands. Since its introduction into Egypt, about five years ago, its ravages have increased from year to year until in 1913 they amounted to more than those of all the other cotton insects combined. In severe cases the worm has been known to reduce the yield 50 per cent. In addition to this, the amount of lint obtained from the seed is lessened from 15 to 20 per cent.

To keep this insect out the barring of cottonseed has been found insufficient, for a considerable number of infested seed are usually found in the bales of lint. Since the cotton fields of the south are adjacent to many of the southern cotton mills, the danger from this infested seed is very great should any of it find its way into this section. There is, moreover, every reason to suppose that the pink boll worm would adapt itself readily to conditions in this country. As a matter of fact its ravages might be even more disastrous than they have been elsewhere.

The new quarantines will, it is estimated, keep approximately 3500 bales of Egyptian cotton from the southern mills each year. This loss can in great measure be supplied by special grades of cotton produced in the south, and where Egyptian cotton is absolutely necessary, it will still be possible to obtain the yarn from northern establishments. There is in fact reason to believe that within a few years Arizona will produce all the Egyptian cotton needed to supply the southern mills. For these reasons it is believed that the proposed restrictions will not work any great hardship.

Marvels of the "Midway" at the Panama-Pacific Exposition

Millions of Lights to Flash on the Gold Paved Streets of Great Concessions District--$11,000,000 to Be Spent on Superb Amusement Features--Famed Amusement Purveyors of America and Europe Contribute Wonderful Concessions.

Photos copyright, 1913, by Panama-Pacific Exposition Co.

PROGRESS on the "Midway" at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is so far advanced that definite information may be given about this fascinating concessions district. The concessions center will be one of the most marvelous features of the Exposition grounds. At night it will glow with myriads of incandescents; its streets will be paved with gold; shafts of colored light will be hurled against its lofty towers and minarets, the tallest of which will be 250 feet in height.

Many amusement features will be shown for the first time. The art of presenting huge panoramas and dioramas has advanced marvelously during the past decade, and the world's most celebrated amusement purveyors will display their finest productions. The concessions will be notable not only for their huge size and the excellence of their presentation, but for their educational merit. Between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 will, it is estimated, be expended upon installation in the concessions district.

So far the Exposition management has received more than 7,000 applications for concession privileges. The bureau of concessions already has granted will cost more than $7,500,000. A flood of applications is being received from all parts of America and Europe, and a staff of experts is kept busy in segregating them.

Prize For Best Name. What to call the main street of the concessions center is a question. Chicago had the "Midway," St. Louis the "Plaza," Portland the "Trail" and Seattle "The Pay Streak." Frank Burt, director of concessions and admissions

"Toyland Grow'n Up" will be a walled principally, almost as large as an exposition itself. The walled city will be entered by three mammoth gates. The first gate will be the Gate of Fun, and the second will be the Gate of Knowledge. Between them will be a crooked street, with its rookery, crooked buildings and rookery, crookedly streets and rookery, crookedly street

sum. Among the more important concessions are the "Grand Canyon," a spectacle to be presented by the Santa Fe railway; "Toyland Grown Up," a great city in which the buildings will be enlarged reproductions of children's toys (Toyland will be a superbly artistic spectacle, a mass of wonderful palaces covering twelve acres, and it will be presented by Frederick Thompson, the famous creator of Luna Park at Coney Island); the Panama canal, working model of the great canal at Panama; "Creation," based on the first chapter of Genesis; "The Evolution of the American Navy," a replica of the world famous city of Nuremberg; an Ice Palace in which international skating and hockey matches will be held; a Fortynine Camp; the Battle of Gettysburg; Hagenbeck's Wild Animal exhibit and prehistoric garden; Asia; Mahomet's Mountain; the Dayton Flood and the Aescrope.

"Grand Canyon of Arizona."
One of the most artistic of all the concessions will be the "Grand Canyon of Arizona" in all its grandeur and power, as seen from the platform of an observation car. Some of the most noted scenic artists in America are engaged upon the canvases, which will depict the scenes of the canyon in its natural colors. This concession, to occupy 300 by 700 feet of ground space, is now under construction and when completed will cost $350,000.

The Santa Fe railroad plans to make it of educational value rather than one to amuse only. Guides will deliver lectures on the points of interest, and in harmony with the setting of the panorama will be an Indian village in which members of the Pueblo, San Domingo, Navajo, Zuni and Hopi Indian tribes will present their dances in native costume and display their handwork.

"Toyland Grown Up" will be a walled principally, almost as large as an exposition itself. The largest city will be entered by three mammoth gates.
 The first gate will be the Gate of Fun, and Toyland will be entered by Crazy street, with its rookedy, crookedy buildings and rookedy, crookedy streets and rookedy, crookedy street ar lines. Everything will be rookedy, rookedy, with laughs galore.

The second gate will be the Gate of the Court of Fairyland, the Gate of Beauty.

The third gate is the entrance to the City of the Wicked King, where is held captive the doll princess. This is the Gate of Thrills.

Nymphs of Fairyland.
Rolling its water into Fairyland will be a wonderful cascade, which will pour 30,000 gallons of water a minute into a lagoon where beautiful girls and nymphs perform graceful evolutions in the water as it rushes down. The cascade is surrounded by a magnificent building with golden domes and oping decorated with Christmas trees. A colossal stairway on either side of the cascade forms a grand approach to the building. Beneath the dome is the Court of Youth, and thence flows the water that the sightseer in 1915 must dip his fingers in with difficulty. In the Fountain of Youth the visitor must pass through initiation ceremonies before he is able to enjoy the pleasures of Toyland Grown Up. Among other features will be Mother Hubbard's Cuckoo, a clown, sixty feet in height; a great ship, as large as a six story city building.

ing and built in part in the form of a side wheel steamer, since this shape will have huge wheels like the Ferris wheel at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago. By means of these wheels the side steamer will be raised aloft. In Toyland there will be, too, the City of Peter Pan, the town that never grew up. Toyland, indeed, will be the fairyland that the child dreams of. Al-phases of the canal with which Americans are familiar will be reproduced in miniature. Fortifications will be shown, and the workings of the great gates at the locks will be illustrated in a way that will, perhaps, make their operation as plain to the visitor as if he visited the canal itself. Two thousand people will be able to make the trip through the "canal" every thirty minutes. Incidentally, it may be observed, the gates to the concessions district, as the visitor enters it from Van Ness avenue, will be reproductions of the great spillways at Panama.

The model of the Panama canal, to cost $250,000, will be an exact reproduction of the great work at Panama.

Great Navy Panorama.

"The Evolution of the Dreadnaught" will be a panoramic illustration of the birth, growth and development of the American navy, entailing an outlay of $150,000. The concession is in the hands of E. W. McConnell, who proposes a "trip to the North Pole" at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis in 1904. The history of incidents in the life of the navy, such as Perry's victory at Lake Erie, the battle of the Monitor and Merrimack, Dewey's victory at Manila bay and the defeat of the Spanish fleet at Santiago will be shown.

All of the scenes will be presented in chronological order. The visitor in 1915, as he enters the concession, will see first a panorama depicting the early events of America's naval history, and then panoramas of the later events with which every schoolboy is familiar. Throughout the successive stages of the panorama the illusion of warships in action will be preserved. The final scenes will show the assembled nafleships of the navies of the world anchored off Harbor View, with the white squadron coming through the Golden Gate.

This panorama will become an actuality, for the nations of the world have been invited by Uncle Sam to send their best battleships and cruisers for the opening of the exposition. The invitation is meeting with splendid response. It is expected that more than 200 of the world's battleships will take part. Each of the twenty-eight nations that have already officially decided as governments to participate in the exposition will send one or more of its representative war craft to the Golden Gate, and a number of the nations have already given assurance that several of their finest fighting craft will assemble at the Golden Gate. Mr. Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty of England, has promised that Great Britain will be represented with a number of the finest Dreadnoughts. The spectacle of this vast fleet assembled from the world's navies will be without parallel in history.

The European nations will assemble their battleships at Hampton Roads, and thence, after an official review, this composite fleet of the world's fighting craft, the largest fleet ever assembled, will proceed through the Panama canal to the Golden Gate.

Higher Than Ferris Wheel.
A novel feature will be the "Acro-scope," an inverted pendulum, which will carry sightseers to an elevation of 263 feet. This is four feet higher than the famous Ferris wheel at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago. The Aeroscope presents a novel feature in construction. Crane arms, 240 feet in height, mounted upon a steel tower fifty feet high and made of two parallel riveted trusses, will operate as a balanced lever. One of the crane arms will carry a double decked cage for passengers.

One of the most attractive of the concessions will be that reproducing the historic market place of old Nuremberg, probably the quaintest point in the old world. Nuremberg today is the only one of the great cities of the German empire which has preserved its medieval appearance. Nuremberg was the home of the Meistersenger. Here the "Iron Maiden," instrument of torture, first made her grisly entrance into the dungeon chamber; here the independent robber barons first held sway against all who came; here the incomparable work of Franz Hals was first produced. Many of these interesting relics will be shown.

The banquet halls, folk dance halls, restaurants, cafes and concert gardens will be presented as they existed five centuries ago. Employees will be dressed in the native costumes of the fifteenth century that visitors may feel that they are in the fascinating old city of Nuremberg as it existed in the height of its glory.

Typical of the early days of the west will be the "Forty-nine Camp," in which the characters made famous by Bret Harte will be reincarnated and mingle with the visitors. Stagecoaches of the days of '49 will meet the visitors at the entrance of the Union Ferry building and take them out to the "camp." You and take them out to the camp. Road-letto wheels, faro games and stage-coach robberies will appeal to every sightseer. There will be no actual gambling, for games of chance will not be permitted upon the exposition grounds. Nevada mining men under the leadership of Sam Davis, editor of

The face of the "Ice Palace," to be presented by Montreal concessionaires, will be unique in designs of ice, through which will run ammonia pipes. In the interior will be a skating rink three-fourths of an acre in area, upon which will be held international hockey matches.

Unique "Roadtown."
A unique display in one of the exhibit palaces will be "Roadtown," a modern skyscraper laid on its side, with the pipes and wires and elevators running horizontally instead of vertically. With the inhabitants of the building having free access to the open country that surrounds it.

"Roadtown" is a continuous line of instead of grouping houses together. The man does in the building of a model city the exhibitor suggests a novel idea that cities should be strung along for miles through hill and dale, giving every family an ample and handy supply of fresh air. "Roadtown" is to be built of "poured" concrete—Edison's system—and it will be earthquake proof, fireproof, soundproof and germproof. All the transportation will be conducted in the basement, where a monorail transportation system will be used.

In the "Submarines" concession sight-seers will travel actually beneath the water in submarine craft corresponding in appearance and in general equipment with the most modern type of submarines used in the world's navies.

Henry Ellsworth, famed throughout the world as a producer of the Oberammergau, the Passion play, which has brought thousands upon thousands of pilgrims to the picturesque shrine in the foothills of the Bavarian Alps, will produce a great concession to be known as the "Dayton Flood." Mechanical devices upon an elaborate scale will reproduce many of the thrilling incidents at the time of Dayton's great disaster. The spectacle will convey a lesson, and the courage with which Dayton overcame the disaster will be granted

"Mahomet's Mountain," another large and interesting attraction, will represent a huge man, ninety-six feet tall, holding up a mountain. Visitors will journey through the mountain, visiting caves, waterfalls and many spectacular places.

From Yesterday's Late Editions BILLS OF LOCAL INTEREST ANOTHER POLICE SHIFT

Their Status Before General Court —Board of Health Opposes Anti-Compulsory Vaccination Bill

The committee on rules, known as the speaker's cabinet, and of which Rep. Victor Francis Jewett of this city is a member, requested information of the state board of health concerning vaccine and vaccination in their relation to the prevention of smallpox. This request was made in order that the members of the house of representatives might vote the more intelligently on the anti-compulsory vaccination, and the state board submitted the following information:

There is a great deal of local interest in the bill now before the legislature seeking to prohibit compulsory vaccination and members of the local board of health have addressed communications to members of the legislature appealing to them to oppose the bill.

The bill has first place in the order of the day for debate on Thursday of this week in the house of representatives.

First. Where and how and under whose supervision is the state vaccine virus obtained?

Ans. The state vaccine virus is prepared in the antitoxin and vaccine laboratory of the Massachusetts state board of health at Forest Hills. The vaccine virus is transferred from calf to calf, with occasional transfer to rabbits and then back to calves. The vaccine virus has been in use for about nine years, having been selected from a number of viruses obtained from different sources when the laboratory was opened in 1904.

Second. What is the record as to safety from any harmful types of bacteria in the state vaccine?

Ans. Professor Smith has no record of the finding of dangerous germs in the vaccine produced under his supervision for the use of citizens of Massachusetts.

Third. Is vaccination a harmful procedure? If not, what is the chief danger and how may it be obviated?

Ans. Vaccination is not in itself a harmful procedure, but the wound may be more susceptible to infection from without, if it is not properly cared for and protected. Vaccination is always to be regarded as a minor surgical operation, to be carried out under conditions of strict asepsis.

Fourth. Is it desirable from the standpoint of public health to change the present law relating to the vaccination of children previous to their entering the public schools?

Ans. If the present law relating to vaccination of children previous to their entering schools is to be changed, they should be altered in the direction of greater rather than less stringency.

Fifth. Is it desirable to enact a law to require any particular method of vaccination to the exclusion of other methods?

Ans. No.

Sixth. State percentage of cases in Massachusetts in which harmful results have followed vaccination.

Ans. It is impossible to state the percentage of cases in Massachusetts in which harmful results have followed vaccination. In view of the fact that there are no statistics concerning the number of cases vaccinated. Since the establishment of the vaccine laboratory in 1904, 35,417 tubes of virus have been distributed, and a fair estimate would probably indicate that at least 60 per cent of these tubes were utilized.

During the period of time from 1904 to 1913, inclusive, not more than ten instances have occurred in Massachusetts in which harmful results could have been ascribed to vaccination, and in no instance could these harmful results be attributed to vaccination as such, but rather to improper methods of carrying out such vaccination.

Seventh. What guarantee, if any, can be given by the state board of health that the vaccine virus, issued by the board for use by Massachusetts physicians, is free from harmful bacteria, and that it will not result in inoculation of tuberculosis and other dangerous diseases?

Ans. Calves after removal of vaccine are killed and if tuberculosis is present, vaccine not used. Tuberculosis among calves rare. Guinea-pigs are inoculated from every lot of virus and cultures made to determine presence or absence of any suspicious bacteria. The virus is stored at least three months before use.

Eighth. Has the state board of health any method of determining whether cases of death following vaccination are not directly or indirectly due to the use of vaccine virus, even when the cause of death is assigned as "infantile paralysis," "tetanus" or "blood poisoning?"

Ans. The state board of health has no method of determining whether cases of death following vaccination are not directly or indirectly due to the use of vaccine virus except by investigation of the cases as they occur and in no instance has any evidence been adduced to show that the cause of sickness or death was the vaccine virus.

Ninth. Has the state board of health any recommendations to make relative to investigation of deaths following vaccination, with a view to determining whether death was caused or hastened by vaccination?

Ans. The state board of health makes it a practice to investigate all deaths brought to their attention which are claimed to be due to vaccination.

Tenth. Do any states prohibit, by law, compulsory vaccination of children?

Ans. Minnesota and Utah. Minnesota forbids compulsory vaccination of school children except during epidemic of smallpox and then with the approval of the local board of education. The state of Utah makes it unlawful (a) for any public health, educational or other board to compel the vaccination of any child or person of any age, or (b) to make vaccination a condition to the attendance at school.

Eleventh. What is the difference, if any, between "vaccine lymph," authorized by law as the official virus of Massachusetts, and "bovine virus," "cow-pox" and "kine-pox," authorized by the laws of other states?

Ans. There is no difference.

Twelfth. What is the difference, if any, between "vaccine lymph," authorized by law as the official virus of Massachusetts, and "bovine virus," "cow-pox" and "kine-pox," authorized by the laws of other states?

Ans. There is no difference.

Thirteenth. What is the difference, if any, between "vaccine lymph," authorized by law as the official virus of Massachusetts, and "bovine virus," "cow-pox" and "kine-pox," authorized by the laws of other states?

Ans. There is no difference.

ROSE AGAIN WITNESS
AT THE BECKER TRIAL

Told How Becker and Rosenthal
Had Entered Into Partnership;
How They Quarreled; and How Murder Was Plotted

NEW YORK, May 12.—"Bald Jack" Rose, star witness of the first trial of Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, appeared in that role again today. He calmly told of the part he played in the events leading up to the gambler's death. Substantially, it was the same story that he told at the first trial. He spoke in a low tone and at times gazed directly at the defendant.

Briefly, Rose recited how Becker and Rosenthal had entered into partnership in a gambling establishment; how they quarreled; how exposure for Becker as a police lieutenant was imminent and how Rosenthal's death was plotted.

NOT TO BLAME GUNMEN

NEW YORK, May 12.—When the trial of Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal was resumed today District Attorney Charles S. Whitman called Dr. Dennis Taylor to the witness stand as the last of several witnesses to establish the death of Rosenthal. Dr. Taylor at the time of the murder was an ambulance surgeon and his testimony was necessary because it was he who pronounced the gambler dead. Following Dr. Taylor the district attorney was prepared to call his two star witnesses, "Jack" Rose and Willie Shapiro, the chauffeur of the car in which the gunmen are said to have escaped from the scene of the murder.

The cross-examination of some of the witnesses for the prosecution by Martin T. Manton seemed to show the line the defense will follow. It was evident that Becker's new counsel intends to run close to the old defense at the first trial and try to show that the murder of Rosenthal was the result of a gambler's feud, without the guiding hand of the defendant. The inference was that the blame for the actual shooting, as before, would be placed on "Bridge" Webber and Harry Vallon, instead of the four gunmen who have already been executed for wielding the revolvers.

Chauffeur Testifies

Shapiro followed Dr. Taylor on the stand. He told of receiving a call at his stand in front of the Cafe Boulevard late at night on July 13. He then went to Tom Sharkey's saloon where he picked up Rose, Harry Vallon and Sam Schepers. "We went to 42nd street and Broadway, then to Bridge Webber's poker rooms at 42nd street and Sixth avenue," said the witness. "At 4th street and Seventh avenue we picked up another man returned to Web-ber's poker rooms, where the occupants of the car got out. Fifteen minutes later Dago Frank, Gyp the Road, Whitley Lewis and Latty Louie came out and I was ordered to go to the Metropole hotel.

"At the Metropole," the witness continued, "Dago Frank ordered me to turn the car around so it would face toward Sixth avenue."

Becker's counsel objected to the line of questioning and was overruled.

Saw Man Fall
"I turned the car around," Shapiro went on, "and the four men got out and went to the other side of the street. I remained on the box of my machine. In 15 minutes I heard a shot and four more. I looked toward the Metropole and saw a man fall. I started my machine. I was going to get away from there. I had gone about fifty feet when the four men caught up with me and jumped in the machine."

"I heard Whitley say," continued Shapiro, "make the chauffeur turn around and wait. The cops are all fixed. Everything is all right. Then he said 'Becker has fixed 'em.'"

"After the auction I took the four men to 124th street and Lenox avenue where they left me. I then drove back to the Cafe Boulevard."

"Where were you last night?" asked the district attorney.

"In your house," answered Shapiro. "How much money have you received from my office?"

"Fifty dollars."

On cross examination Shapiro said that $50 had been used to pay his expenses out of the city.

Mr. Manton read a copy of the testimony Shapiro offered at the trial of the gunmen. In that Shapiro said "Frank said everything is all right; Becker told me so," Shapiro said he could not remember just what he had testified to at the first trial. He insisted that the substance of the testimony was the same.

"Blow His Roof Off"

The defense read an affidavit sworn to by a keeper in the Tombs quoting Shapiro as having told the keeper that Harry Vallon and "Bridge" Webber had jumped into the murder car in front of the Metropole, and threatened to "blow his roof off" unless he drove away from the place. Shapiro denied having made such a statement. He denied further that while in the Tombs he had said that Vallon had hit him with a gun. He said an attempt had been made to get him to swear that Webber and Vallon, not the gunmen, were in the car, but he had refused.

Jack Rose took the stand. He gave his occupation as a lecturer and writer. Under questioning by the district attorney he told how he first met Becker in 1911 when Becker was head of the strong arm squad. He answered entirely composed, and spoke without hesitation, even letting his eyes rest directly on Becker. Neither man changed expression.

Ends - Case Against

B. & M. Called

In superior court this forenoon the case of Ellen M. Rolfe vs. Elizabeth Clarke, administratrix of the estate of Maria J. Whitbank, late of Lowell, was given to the jury. Mrs. Rolfe claims that the estate owes her money for services while the late Mrs. Whitbank conducted a store on Bridge street.

Yoss vs. B. & M.

The case of Dettloff C. Yoss vs. Boston & Maine railroad, an action of tort, was on trial the greater part of the day. The ad damnum is placed at $20,000. Leonard C. Roberts appears for the plaintiff and Trull & Wier for the defense.

The plaintiff claims that while alighting from a train at the Medford station on the afternoon of Oct. 25, 1912, the train was suddenly started and he was thrown under the wheels. He claims that his foot was so badly crushed and bruised that it was necessary to have it amputated and that he was otherwise injured.

President and Cabinet Discuss Latest Developments — Mexican Government Orders Release of U. S. Vice Consul Silliman—Five So. Americans
Arrested for Sniping — Adm. Mayo
Says Lobos Island Has Not Been Occupied — Fighting at Mazatlan

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Wilson and members of the cabinet discussed today plans for participation by the United States in the Mexican mediation conference to begin next Monday at Niagara Falls, Ont., and various problems which have arisen since the occupation of Vera Cruz by American military forces.

Just before the cabinet met a message was received from General Funston at Vera Cruz, in which the American commander declared that no attention should be paid to "alarmist reports" that Mexican forces were threatening to attack the Vera Cruz water works. There was no indication of movement of Mexican troops in preparation for such attack, the message said.

"There have been rumors," Gen. Funston added, "that an attack was threatened. These have been due to remarks attributed to General Alamo. The water works cannot be taken from us by force. If the pipe line should be cut it could be repaired in a few hours."

U. S. Mail Held By Mexicans
General Funston said that 200 sacks of American mail destined for Mexico City and delivered at the break in the railroad, still lay on the tracks in possession of the Mexican outposts. He had no news of Private Parks, who rode into the Mexican lines and has not returned.

Among matters the president and cabinet had under consideration throughout the morning was the appeal from the Brazilian minister at Mexico City to Gen. Funston on behalf of five South Americans, under arrest at Vera Cruz for "sniping" American soldiers from a Norwegian steamer. Three Brazilians are among the prisoners, and the appeal, coming from a diplomatic representative of one of the mediating nations, has presented a delicate problem for decision.

Formal representations in behalf of the prisoners have been made at the state department by the Brazilian ambassador and the Chilean and Argentine ministers.

Lobos Island Affair
The naming by American forces of the lighthouse on Lobos Island, off Tampico, which Huerta's foreign minister has protested is a violation of the armistice, also was taken up in the cabinet meeting.

Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, chosen to represent the United States at the mediation conference, awaited word early today from Secretary Bryan before completing arrangements for their mission.

Consul W. E. Alger from Mazatlan, which is besieged by between 14,000 and 16,000 constitutionalists, reported today at the state department for instructions.

Pitiful Condition
Thirty Americans, most of them women and children, were left at Mazatlan at their own wish. Several hundred foreigners of other nationalities also refused to leave. Consul Alger said that the country was in a pitiful condition as the result of the internal warfare.

DR. RYAN NOT ON

STEAMER ESPERANZA

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 12.—When medical officers yesterday went aboard the steamship Esperanza, now at quarantine, 90 miles down the river, they found that Dr. Edward R. Ryan, the American Red Cross official recently arrested by federalists at Acapulco, Mexico, was not among the passengers. Dr. Ryan had boarded the steamer at Puerto Mexico, but had slipped off quietly at Vera Cruz and probably will sail by a later vessel.

IMMEDIATE RELEASE OF AMERICAN ORDERED

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Senator Oliver, the Brazilian minister in Mexico City, informed the state department today that the Mexican government has ordered the immediate release of Vice Consul John R. Silliman, held a prisoner at Saltillo. The minister added that as soon as Mr. Silliman reached Mexico City he would obtain for him safe conduct to Vera Cruz.

IMPORTANT PHASES OF
MEXICAN SITUATION

WASHINGTON, May 12.—While Huerta's mediating mission steamed north from Vera Cruz today and the American delegates began plans of organization from the Niagara Falls conference these three important phases in the Mexican situation stood out, demanding urgent attention:

The fate of John R. Silliman, United States consul at Saltillo, reported held by Huerta's soldiers.

Settlement of the "occupation" of Lobos Island which drew a protest from Huerta's foreign minister.

Disposition of five South Americans arrested for sniping operations at Vera Cruz.

Silliman's case was among the first of the developments that were to be submitted to President Wilson when he returned today from New York where, yesterday, he paid tribute for

The Davenport Democrat and Leader, a western newspaper pays a high tribute to the memory of the late Charles Francis, a former Lowell man who passed away at the latter place on April 29. He graduated from the Lowell high school in 1869 and in 1864 graduated from Harvard.

Mr. Francis who was a hydraulic engineer learned his trade at the Lowell Machine shop, now the Saco-Lowell shops.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

The C. M. A. C. originally known as "The Association of Catholics," was organized just 25 years ago, and on May 17 will observe its silver jubilee. The organization has been a success from its infancy and started its career with a series of concerts and dramatic entertainments that drew large and appreciative audiences. The Sun of a quarter of a century ago has the following report of one of its earliest efforts:

"The Association Catholique presented the grand opera, 'Pharaoh's Daughter,' in Huntington hall, Tuesday evening, and in every particular the performance was a triumphal success. Quite a number of clergymen occupied the boxes and enjoyed the opera. The chorus was made up of 75 young ladies and 50 young men, and made a powerful volume of melody. The cast was as follows:

Pharaoh, King of Egypt, Al. Rancet.
Coprois, Pharaoh's daughter, Miss Florence Gill.
Rhadames, Egyptian high priest, Dr. A. Vincelle.
Nemrod, captain of the royal guard, M. A. Lorne.
Sarah, Moses' Mother, Miss Angelina Vole.
Lea, Moses' sister, Miss Malvina Monge.
Moses in the cradle, Miss Melanie Pappier.

All the characters were finely put on, the singing and acting showing great cultivation. Mr. P. P. Haggerty directed the musical numbers and did much in making the opera a success. Mr. Ed. Vincelle presided at the piano."

In another column the old Sun says: "The first weekly concert under the auspices of L'Association Catholique was held Sunday evening. Those who took part were Misses Therien, Constantineau, Bergeron, Sara Boncher, Laura and M. L. Boncher and Messrs. Cyrille Constantineau, Martel, Cor and R. Girard."

Prof. Haggerty, the veteran musical director, is a familiar figure on the street every day, while Alphonsus Boncher is still actively engaged as choir director at Notre Dame de Lourdes church, at the age of 72 years. Ed Vincelle was well known and decidedly popular in this city in those days and if you ever go to Ottawa look him up for he is now an official translator for the house of parliament of Canada, and by the way, associated with him in a similar position is our old newspaper friend, "Charlie" Daoust, formerly of this city. They are both making good in first class positions.

Ward Seven Politics

If you ever lived in the ward, 7, 25 years ago and had a vote, you must have met Cyrille Constantineau, who for many years was prominent in ward 7 politics and was one of the late "Bill" Hayes' strongest lieutenants. In order to get Cyrille's vote one had to go to get that Cyrille claimed to carry the French vote around in his pocket. In the memorable battle for the legislature between W. H. L. Hayes and ex-Senator James McKimley, which was won by the latter by the narrow margin of seven votes, with a drop of three on the recount, Cyrille, Sam Snow and the late Edgar Hill conducted the Hayes campaign, and there never was a campaign and caucus like it before or since. It was nominally a republican caucus, but everybody on the check list voted except two men who were unaccountably detained in jail and another who had his wife send a letter of protest, stating as the doctors had decided that he couldn't live overnight and because he thought it would be inconvenient for his family for him to pass away in his own home, he had reluctantly decided not to attend the caucus, but hoped in the near future to look down upon his friend seated in the halls of the legislature. W. H. L. Hayes was chairman and Harry W. L. Hayes was secretary. There was great excitement throughout and a caucus when it became necessary for the secretary to sit on the ballot box to see his remaining inside the hall. Hayes took the wind out of the most excited participants by calmly drawing from his pocket a box of chocolates which he started to eat with evident enjoyment and without the least concern for the excited scenes that were transpiring around him. The Hayes faction had a challenging committee headed by "Doc" Smith, whose duties were to challenge any demagogue "rangers" who might attempt to vote, that is to say, who might attempt to vote for McKimley. That challenging committee job was no pleasure, for there were many Hayes democrats "rangers" as there were McKimley "rangers" and the committee had to exercise rare discrimination in separating the wheat from the chaff. As the evening progressed a man stepped within the hall and got a ballot. As he approached the ballot box someone whispered: "Look at that guy. He just got out of jail. He was sent up for beating his wife."

"He shall be challenged on general principles," promptly declared "Doc" Smith. "Any man who beats his wife and belongs in a respectable republican caucus. I have known republicans who were beats, but not wife-beaters." And the vote was challenged. Cyrille Constantineau is now in the west engaged in the real estate business and is prospering.

Wanted: $450,000 for a City Hall
It has been generally admitted that the construction of the present city hall was one memorable occasion on which the city got its money's worth. It was built under the direction of a commission composed of the following well known citizens: Charles Buchanan, George W. Field, John J. Buchanan, John F. Phillips, Prentiss Webster, Gen. Rundle, John F. Howe, John Welch, James H. Francis, Albert A. Haggerty, William E. Livingston and Francis C. Plunkett.

Just a quarter of a century ago these commissioners were looking around for the money with which to construct the new municipal building, for the old Sun says:

"The city hall commissioners held a public meeting Monday and discussed the amount of money needed for the erection of the new city hall. After considerable discussion the commissioners decided to request the committee on finance to recommend to the city council a loan of $450,000 of which $250,000 would be for the city hall and $200,000 for the memorial building. For that sum $100,000 would be used this year and next year the legislature would be asked to allow the city to make a 20 years' loan for the remainder. The present limit of the city's indebtedness is $600,000. If the city council declines the loan asked for the commissioners will select plans in accordance with the sum named by the council. In asking for the $450,000, the commissioners are of the opinion that the public want the building constructed on an eminently plan, but want the best that money can get. They ask for the large amount so that they will not have to have the plans curtailed by lack of money. If the council does not desire to spend so much money, the commissioners will govern themselves according to the amount given."

They received the desired amount and erected a building that is a credit to the city.

Dick Conway's Palmy Days
While I hesitate to place a man of such youthful appearance as Dick Conway, the old time ball player, in the "old man" class, still as he was a shining star in the baseball firmament 25 years ago, I must say a word about him. The Sun of a quarter of a century ago has the following:

"We understand that Dick Conway will be given a great reception when he appears on the Riverside grounds with Worcester. The Crescent club will present him a silver service and the Burke Temperance institute will give him a gold watch. It will cost about $200 for these presents."

The presentation of the silver service, which took place was most appropriate for Dick was married, the year previous, April 18, 1888, and the old Sun had the following account of his wedding:

"The marriage of Richard Conway, pitcher of the Boston baseball team, took place Tuesday evening in St. Mary's church, Lawrence, Rev. Fr. O'Brien officiating. The bride, Miss Katie A. Moelle, is a sister of George Moelle, now with the New Orleans team. The groom was attended by Jas. O'Hara of Lowell, and the bridesmaid, Miss Mary Finn, of Lawrence. At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home on Garden street. Mr. and Mrs. Conway left for a week's sojourn in New York."

George Moelle, Dick's brother-in-law, went from New Orleans to Chicago, where he made good behind the bat. He is now in business in Lawrence. Dick stayed in that game until his arm went bad. I recall one cold, wet night, long ago, when the skating rink in the Mexico building on Middlesex street was in full bloom, the enterprising managers of the rink had advertised that Dick Conway and the late Mike Kelly, the "$10,000 beauty" who had been at that time but recently purchased from Chicago by the Boston Nationals, would give an exhibition of battery work at the rink. Every fan in Lowell turned out to see the show, but it was out in the rain to see them, but it was not a "pipe" neither one of them put in an appearance and perhaps the fans didn't "holer."

I saw Dick and Mike Kelly perform in a most remarkable game on the old South End grounds when Richard was burning them over to heat the world. It was on the morning of Memorial day "some" years ago and Boston was playing New York. If I remember rightly, Mike Kelly was the pitcher of the Giants. Richard went first to bat and at the end of the inning the score was 9 to 2 and the extra inning was necessary. In the 10th the home team did an awful job on the New York pitcher, with three batters and home runs galore, scoring 10 runs in the extra inning, the game closing with Boston a winner, 19 to 2. I nearly fell out of Sullivan's lower roofing for Dick, though at that time I had no idea that we would ever become persons, friends. Dick has the reputation of having knocked the longest home run hit in the history of baseball. He swatted the ball on the South End grounds in Boston and it was recovered in Providence, R. I., 50 miles away. Dick knocked the ball over the left-field fence. The Boston & Albany tracks run along the outside of that fence. A freight train bound for Providence was passing at the time and the ball landed in through the open door of one of the cars and was not recovered until the train stopped at Providence. Some (what?)

Sullivan's Tower
The younger generation of Lowell fans will probably wonder what is meant by Sullivan's tower. It has long since gone out of existence, and it remained for a mighty conflagration to kill it, after the Boston Baseball association had tried unsuccessfully for years to put it out of commission. Along the right field fence of the South End grounds were a number of tenement houses and the tenants them-

WHY GREAT ADVERTISERS USE Victor Typewriters

WHEN you go into big mail order houses, where every order must go out the day it is received; where thousands of letters are answered daily; where the manifold must give perfect copies, where every typewriter must do its duty eight, ten, twelve and more hours every day, and find VICTOR Typewriters in use—there is a big reason for it.

When such an institution as the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, the biggest institution of its kind in the world, buys 7500 VICTOR Typewriters for the use of its students in all parts of the world—there is a good reason for it.

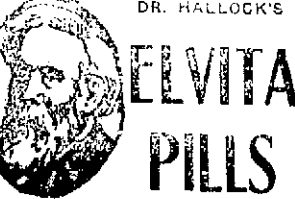

When big newspaper offices, big magazine publishing houses, big mercantile concerns, public stenographers and business and professional men use VICTOR Typewriters and are reordering them to supersede other makes—there is a commendable reason for it.

Those reasons are—

THE GILBRIDE CO.'S GREAT ANNIVERSARY SALE BEGINS WEDNESDAY

This great annual sale, the result of months of planning, is one of Lowell's greatest merchandising events. The values offered will stand the acid test. Better values being the slogan of every department manager, they offer only new goods, only stylish goods, only goods of quality, and then make the price lower than any price was ever quoted you before on like quality of merchandise.

It is impossible to advertise every article at the special prices arranged. The sale is general throughout the entire store, and it embodies a greater host of bargains than any of our previous Anniversary Sales.

We have spared neither time, effort nor expense to make this the greatest sale ever held in this store. We are enthused over this sale, and so will you be after you visit us.

ITEMS NOT ON SALE UNTIL TOMORROW DOORS OPEN AT 9 A. M.

NATURALIZED CITIZENS

There is a disposition in some quarters to criticize the stand taken by Mayor Curley of Boston a few days ago when on being confronted with Swift's army of the unemployed he asked them how many of them were American citizens. Let there be no misapprehension of the question that deserves to be asked by all who dwell on immigration and by students of political economy. At the outset there may be tempted to regard the mayor's question as being flippant or unbecomingly (but on second thought it turns out to be a very pertinent question indeed.

Whatever one may think of Mayor Curley either personally or politically, all must admit that he is a young man of marked ability and keen intellect, and to such a man the importance of the unemployed army must have been apparent. He must have known, too, that those who would now the seeds of section merely strive to get a fortune at the expense of the foreign worker who because of his ignorance of American manners and institutions is more likely to be led astray than the man who takes a personal interest in public affairs. Besides this class there are the lucky few individuals who are desirous of regaining the industrial advantages of this country while neglecting the opportunity of becoming good citizens of America. The fewness of the hands displayed when Mayor Curley asked all citizens to declare themselves proved that Swift's army has a majority gathered from the above types.

America and all countries have duties to perform for their workers, but they have also legitimate demands to make among them being that they who would profit by our institutions shall become naturalized citizens. Let foreign-born people do this they cannot be a full sympathy with American ideals, and they are not in the main a desirable class. Any man who may feel that this country is not quite good enough for him—and we all know a few such—should never have left his own country. It is fortunate for his peace of mind that he cannot see how illogical his position is.

Even from the purely selfish point of view it is most desirable that foreigners who come here should at the earliest possible opportunity become naturalized citizens and take a part in American public affairs. The humblest worker becomes a power with the ballot in his hands and if he has a conviction he may hope to right it in part by the calm ways of law. American labor troubles through often acute are usually transitory owing to the fact that our public systems lead men to hope for improvement and get them interested in securing them. When all our foreign groups realize this they will see the uselessness of following insincere and sensational mountebanks and they will apply themselves to the task of wiping out industrial abuses by the methods applied in the past by American-born citizens—the methods of the ballot, used wisely after open discussion.

TRIBUTE TO OUR DEAD

One who sees the usual soldiers' lots in all our cemeteries or the national cemetery at Arlington will realize that the nation intends to remember and respect its dead in a very special manner, but except to the descendants of those so honored, it is hard to regard such resting places with anything but a feeling of patriotism. Very different, however, is the attitude of the country towards the tribute which was paid yesterday to the sound marines who died at Vera Cruz. The president of the United States left all his important official duties behind him and went to New York to place a wreath symbolical of the country's gratitude on the bones of the dead and for the next day or two the different sections from which the patriotic marines went forth will honor each in an especial manner. A month ago they were only "soldiers"; today they are heroes. What a strange power lies in the bullet of an enemy!

To the families and immediate friends of the dead who have been sent home from Mexico with all the honor that a grateful and sorrowing country may show the sympathy of the entire people will go out in full measure, but when the first flush of sad pride in past the plaudits of the multitude will have been given, war is a very different thing to the mother who sits beside a casket and to the unthinking enthusiast who hurries up with zeal to go out in defense of his country and his flag. What the difference is comes home yearly to the enlightened people of all countries with renewed force, and it is probable that a full realization of it will come day in the future, result in the abolishing of war as a means of settling the disputes of nations. War is a sad and, as yet, a necessary heritage of a barbarous age.

When finally the Mexican situation is cleared and when people may discuss it without bringing in all the side issues that influence passion or prejudice, possibly will pay a high tribute to the prudence and foresight of the administration in striving to settle the present controversy without embroiling the country in a costly and thankless war. Those who shout loudly for armed intervention are not the men who would fight and fall, but from each intervention would follow a trail of sorrow that would reach every city and town of importance in the entire country. Well indeed it is that so many stand ready to take the place of Hagar at Cambridge and the sixteen other marines who fell when the United States advanced on the Mexican coast, but the families of those who died will hope, and people generally will hope, that despite the appeals of the jingo, other families will be spared the pangs suffered by the relatives of the dead who died so well.

GOVERNOR ON PARDONS

Coming to the great number of pardons issued by Governor Foss during his term of office, the sentiment of Governor Walsh in this regard, as voiced last Sunday in Charlestown state prison, will be followed with marked interest. That Governor Walsh is as much in sympathy with the problems of prisoners as was his predecessor is very evident, but it is also apparent that he will be more conservative in the issuing of pardons. Though the extremely humanitarian and the richly old fashioned may not be entirely satisfied with his expressed views is possible, but on the whole he seems to have taken a just and wise view of the prison problems of Massachusetts. The main argument in the governor's address is that in weighing whether he should extend executive clemency or not, he will be swayed by the influence of the action on others. "I want you to know," he said to the prisoners, "that if I could find good cause and good reason, and do no injustice to any other man, . . . there is not a man here that I would not be glad to give his liberty."

What in this case does "injustice" include? Frequently pardons are held up because of the personal opposition of the injured party or a relative of the injured party. Those who so object undoubtedly feel that a pardon of the prisoner would be an injustice, that there is also the possible injustice to society which is merely a collection of individuals. In the strict interpretation of the governor's ideas, therefore, we may assume that in weighing the merits or demerits of the case involved he will not forget that apart from the personal side of the matter there is always the basic requirement that before a prisoner is released, the rights of society must be conserved.

KNOX AGAINST REPEAL

The argument of Philander C. Knox, who espouses the cause of those who protest against the repeal of the tolls clause of the Panama canal act is a learned and weighty one, but it seems to avoid the controversial matter and emphasizes a secondary issue. In other words Mr. Knox wants to exempt the American ships from tolls because he considers that we have the right to do so if we choose, but he does not succeed in beating down the assertion of Senator Lodge that though we have the right, it is not well that we should exercise the right. To do something that would be disadvantageous to this country politically and economically does not seem good policy, especially when it is certain that in repealing the clause protested against, this country gives up no right, treaty or otherwise. The tolls exemption clause seems doubly undesirable when it is apparent that any dubious good it may have could be served in another and less offensive manner were such the will of the country at a later date.

PROTECTING THE CHILDREN

The life of a child in summer is just as important as in winter and yet though the city has made provision for the saving of lives in the winter time of skating, little or no provision has been made to safeguard the thousands of little claps that will use the canals and rivers in the near future. The call of cool waters during the sultry months so soon to come is a call too strong to be resisted by juveniles and it is too bad that one may now count on the certainty of more than one death unless the city takes some means of protecting the little swimmers. To swim in the dirty waters of the canal and parts of the river is of itself offensive to contemplate, but when one realizes that hundreds have been drowned in the past ten or fifteen years, it is nothing short of criminal that protective measures have not been adopted which would allow the swimmers to swim under proper supervision and without danger of losing their lives.

It seems out of the question to hope for any form of municipal bath while the officials of the city government are in their present "economical" state of mind, but the city is not rich enough to pay for the scores that have been lost for lack of municipal provision. Until such time, then, as we can get some form of public swimming baths in the open, would it not be possible to protect the swimmers to some degree and to see that such places are adequately policed? If something is not done speedily we may look forward to the usual drowning incidents that are a yearly reproach to Lowell.

RE-MAKING A STREET

Commercial Boston is rejoicing at the improvement of Avery street, a narrow thoroughfare in the heart of the business section for the development of which many individuals and organizations have been fighting for a long time. The improvement is a notable example of what must be done in re-planning a city when "city planning" was neglected at its foundation. What was a narrow and unsightly alley will soon be a broad and progressive business street allowing freedom for traffic and splendid business opportunities. At the present time the improvement seems like destruction rather than construction for much undesirable property must be removed before the new Avery street is ready for business. Avery street is only an indication of what will happen some time in the vicinity of our own city hall when the city abandons its penurious attitude and spends money wisely and well.

Good Cheer Aids Digestion of Food

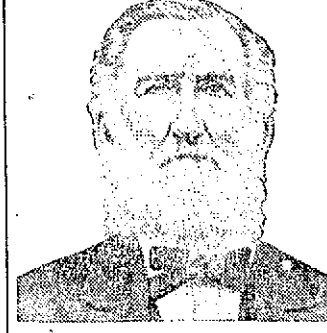

Dyspepsia Can Make the Best of the Family Happy by Using a Laxative-Tonic

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table depend so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experiences of some former dyspeptics who overcame their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way. The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail, the next aid is one close to nature, for Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

Major S. Martin, of Joplin, Mo., now 77, thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped him for a longer and happier life. He has not felt so good in years as he has since taking this excellent medicine, and in spite of his 77 years he feels like a boy.

It is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how severe, constipation, no matter how chronic, biliousness, headache, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for 50 cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the fallacy of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington street, Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Does a $2 a day man, when lifted to a $5 wage, become a better worker or does the lift go to his head and spoil him?

You remember how, when Henry Ford announced his big division of profits, hundreds said it would simply make his men reckless and extravagant.

Those who said that were mostly employers fearful that their own workers would become discontented. Yet some may have said it in good faith, not knowing much about psychology.

Well, here's the answer: John H. Lee, production manager in the Ford plant, says that already the efficiency of the Ford working force has increased 14 per cent. since the new deal went into effect.

Getting more, the men try to do more; their heart as well as their brain is in their work.

This may not come true in every instance, for human nature can fall pretty low. But the Ford experiment has gone on long enough to draw an average. Lee's testimony would seem to be conclusive.

Highly paid labor, when well directed, is the cheapest labor because it does the best and most work.

THE FRIENDS THAT LOVE US

ALWAYS

The friends that love us always. In the good times and the bad; The friends that love us always. Are the friends that keep us glad. The friends that cheer us in the worst. As they do in calm or in tempest. That have made the paths of hardship seem the paths of song and rose.

The friends that love us always. When we go their way or not. Are the friends that hearts remember. When the others are forgot. The friends that stick the closest. When the trouble comes the worst. The friends that love us always. Just the way they did at first.

They are the crowning jewels Of the coronet of tender moments. In the dreams of tender moments. When the troubles start to leave; And we miss their names forever. And we see their faces clear: The friends that love us always, In the sun or shadows, dear.

HERBERT H. RUSSELL, DESIGNS FROM PARK BOARD—ELECTED TO SUCCEED HARVEY B. GREENE

Herbert H. Russell has resigned from the park board to which he was elected a few days ago. He tendered his resignation to Mayor Murphy yesterday afternoon and while Mr. Russell has no explanation to offer to the public, it is believed that he resigned rather than bring about the election of a foeman for the park department, the purpose, it is alleged, for which he was elected.

Mr. Russell's brief letter of resignation to the mayor was as follows: Lowell, Mass., May 11, 1914. Hon. Francis J. Murphy, Mayor, City of Lowell:

Dear Sir—I wish herewith to tender my resignation as a member of the park commission of the city of Lowell, and resignation to take effect forthwith. Very truly yours,

McDONOUGH IS ON TRIAL

TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER BELONGS SERIES OF BUILDERS' ACCEPTANCE TRIALS

ROCKLAND, Me., May 12.—Scheduled for 26 runs over the measured mile course, the torpedo boat destroyer McDonough today began the first of the series of builders' acceptance trials. Today's work was for the purpose of standardizing the propellers, which is necessary before the endurance trials can be held.

The McDonough went on the course at 7 a. m., gradually increasing her speed from eight knots to maximum which, on the four hour run, must exceed 30 1/2 knots. As the destroyer or already has exceeded the latter goal on her unofficial trials, the builders had no concern as to this week's results.

The McDonough was built at Bath, has a displacement of 1,020 tons and belongs to the oil burning type. Steering and turning tests were in order after today's standardization and the destroyer was not expected to dock before night.

The board of inspection and survey for ships which has charge of these trials, is composed almost wholly of new members. Capt. H. B. Wilson, formerly commander of the battleship North Dakota, is president, and Commander George E. Helm is recorder.

A SACRED PROFESSION

Dr. Washington Gladden Glad-dens the Newspaper Heart by These Kind Words

LAWRENCE, Kan., May 12.—The newspaper profession is as sacred a calling as the ministry. In the opinion of Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, O., as expressed in an address made before hundreds of newspapermen here today at the National Newspaper conference being conducted by the University of Kansas.

Other speakers on today's program were H. F. Harrington of the Ohio State Journal, and Will Irwin, a magazine writer. A paper by Frank B. Noyes of Washington, D. C., president of the Associated Press, on press association work, was read.

Dr. Gladden declared what he referred to as a tendency of some newspapers toward "habits of exaggeration" and the exploitation of crime, vice and scandal. He outlined four great tasks for American journalism in the performance of which he said it might aid in purifying and invigorating public opinion.

Raps Yellow Journals

First, to teach people to avoid exaggeration and violent speech and to cultivate moderate and rational modes of expression.

Second, to resist the tendencies which demoralize democracy and which substitute the mob mind for the deliberate habit.

Third, to hold the popular judgment firmly to the truth that character and manhood and not money and popularity are the central values of human existence.

Fourth, to turn the thoughts of men more and more from the negative virtue of detecting and exposing the evil to the positive virtue of discerning and praising the good.

"I know of some newspapers," said Dr. Gladden, "that are doing much to bring to earth a realm of good will. They are disposed to discern the good and rejoice in it; they cultivate grace, grace of speech and kindly judgment of their fellowmen and yet I fear that it is true that in collecting and presenting the news of the day the habit which so largely prevails of fixing the attention upon evil of society, of keeping the seamy side of life uppermost, of exploiting crime and vice and scandal furnishes to quite too large an extent the common notion of the function of journalism."

A large part of the day was given to discussions of news associations and questions pertaining to membership in the same. Charles H. Grasty, editor of the Baltimore Sun, is to address the editors tonight.

Aunt Sally's Advice To Beauty Seekers

Lydia says: "I've tried most everything for my freckles, but can't lose them. What do you suggest?" See answer to "Stella." The treatment suggested I've never known to fail in any case of freckles or other cutaneous blemish.

P. J. K. asks: "Is there anything better than massage to remove wrinkles?" Too much massaging may aggravate a wrinkled condition, tending to soften and loosen the tissue. I advise bathing the face in an astringent lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylic acid in a half gallon of water. This is remarkably effective. Stella writes: "My complexion is horribly muddy. What shall I do for it?" Get an ounce of Mercurochrome at your druggist's. Apply this nightly like you use cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will cause the offensive cuticle gradually to make way, by a process of gentle absorption, for the clear, velvety healthy skin underneath—Woman's Realm.

At Inquiry Into Financial Operations of New Haven—Lobbying Against Panama Canal Act

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad was connected with lobbying against the provision of the Panama canal act prohibiting railroad owned ships from passing through the canal, according to testimony at the hearing today into the New Haven's affairs by the interstate commerce commission.

Timothy E. Byrnes, former vice-president of the New Haven, testified that $1000 paid to Clarence W. DeKnight, a Washington lawyer, by former Rear Admiral F. T. Bowles, then president of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, for services in connection with the Panama legislation, in reality came from the New Haven treasury. The senate lobby investigating committee recently had DeKnight and Bowles before it with relation to the transaction, but the New Haven's connection was not then brought out.

INQUIRY RESUMED
WASHINGTON, May 12.—Indications today were that the inquiry being conducted by the interstate commerce commission into the financial operations of the New Haven railroad and the Billard company soon would run its course.

"This is a case for the criminal courts," suggested one of the four commissioners, "not for a civil proceeding. It appears doubtful whether, in a proceeding of this kind, the facts can be developed."

It is known that the department of justice is inclined not to approve of putting on the witness stand former President Charles S. Mellen and the subsequent directors of the New Haven—Louis Cass, Leonard W. Hockett, George F. Baker and George McCulloch Miller—and some of the members of the commission, it is said, doubt the feasibility of examining them at this time.

May Call Mellen
It is not unlikely, however, that Mr. Mellen may be called a witness possibly today, although no time for his appearance yet has been fixed. He is in the city under subpoena.

William H. Lawrence of Boston, one of the largest individual shareholders in the Boston & Maine railroad, whose holdings are said to have depreciated nearly a million dollars through the transactions of the last several years, also is likely to tell his story to the commission.

Further efforts, it is understood, today, will be made to trace to its source what was commonly referred to as "the yellow dog fund"—money which was raised, it is said, to be used, not merely to influence public sentiment in New England, but to influence legislation.

Byrnes Again Called
Upon resumption of the hearing today, Timothy E. Byrnes, a former vice-president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad was called to the stand.

"Did Mr. Mellen ever turn over to you money to be disbursed without vouchers?" inquired Chief Counsel Polk.

"No," replied Mr. Byrnes. "At no time."

Mr. Polk submitted a voucher for $35.00 in favor of Sylvester Baxter, "for 15,000 prayers."

"Prayers?" asked Mr. Polk. "What did the New Haven want with 15,000 prayers?"

"It probably needed more than that," smiled Mr. Byrnes.

"This purports to be 'prayers from the hills,'" suggested Mr. Polk. "Why were the appeals of the people being paid for by the New Haven?"

Praying for Rest
"I don't know about that," Mr. Byrnes replied. "The bill was paid by the New Haven. People were praying then, just as they are praying now, for a rest."

"Did you pay the Hilltowns association $3000?"

"I did not."

"The Hilltowns association," continued Mr. Polk. "I will say for your information, purported to be an association of people, and it was financed by the New Haven road."

"That might have been," said the witness.

"What do you know about the activities of Innis & Turtle?"

"Innis & Turtle received anywhere from $12,000 to $15,000 for work they did among various associations of people in Massachusetts and elsewhere."

"Did they make a report of their work?"

"I know they did report, but about the character of the report I know nothing."

"Were any itemized bills presented by Innis & Turtle?"

"I think not. Their work was of a general character among civic bodies which manifested interest in the railroad situation."

"Did they act as attorneys for the road?"

"Not in the sense that others acted," said Byrnes. "Their work was along different lines."

"Then for all the thousands of dollars paid them they never went into court," suggested Mr. Polk.

"No, I think they never appeared in court."

Questioned as to the employment of W. S. McNary of Boston, Mr. Byrnes said McNary was given about $1000 mainly for making a careful study of the probable effect of the Grand Trunk railroad coming into Boston, which was being considered.

Expert on Transportation
"McNary was an expert on transportation matters," said Mr. Byrnes, and later was appointed a dock commissioner by the governor. He made reports to us and advised that the New Haven company operate in bringing the Grand Trunk into Boston. He made speeches for years before chambers of commerce, trade boards and similar organizations."

"In whose behalf did he speak?"

"Generally in the interest of the public."

"Did his holding public position have anything to do with his employment?"

"At that time he held no public position. He was a clerk in a furniture store."

"Did you consider the advice of a clerk in a furniture store worth $1000?"

"Well, the state of Massachusetts seems to value his services."

Denounced New Haven
It was testified that McNary during the time he was paid by the New Haven was making addresses before various organizations in which he denounced the New Haven road.

"The money paid to McNary by the New Haven," said Mr. Byrnes, "was entirely for advice regarding the Grand Trunk situation and the general traffic possibilities of Boston."

"You didn't pay him to keep quiet?"

"The money paid him did not change his attitude."

The witness asked if he had any connection with the Panama canal bill, answered that he had not.

SLASHED THE CANVAS
LONDON, May 12.—A militant suffragette armed with a hatchet today seriously damaged a portrait by Sir Hubert von Kerkorner of the Duke of Wellington in the Royal Academy.

The woman who was standing looking at the painting, suddenly drew the hatchet from her belt and slashed the canvas three times before bystanders could intervene. An attendant promptly seized her and took her to the police station, where she said her name was Mary Ansell.

MURDER AND ROBBERY
BOSTON, May 12.—The Springfield Mutual Disability company was temporarily enjoined from doing business by Judge Hammond in the supreme court today upon the recommendation of Insurance Commissioner Harrison who claimed that the funds of the company had been diverted from legitimate purposes.

The injunction was also extended to the funds of the company, held by the Chelco National bank.

Assistant Attorney General R. S. Hox, who represented the insurance commissioner, said that Mr. Harrison was satisfied the company was solvent, but that the trouble was with the officers. The proceedings in the case will be completed on Friday.

Representatives of the company will make an effort in the meantime to have the injunction removed.

BOY INJURED WHEN CYCLE AND VEHICLE COLLIDED TODAY
John W. Whalen, aged 15 years, of 22 Webster street, was thrown from his bicycle and seriously injured shortly before noon today when the bicycle which he was riding collided with a hack on Swift street. The ambulance was summoned and the lad was taken to St. John's hospital, where it was stated he was suffering from internal injuries.

According to witnesses of the accident, Young Whalen was riding along the street on a fairly good rate of speed and was not aware of the approaching vehicle until too late to stop. The driver of the hack was also unable to bring his horses to a halt in time to avert the accident. Young Whalen was thrown from his wheel and picked up on the street in a very weak condition.

STRAIGHT TIPS
Passed to Housekeepers by Sealer of Weights and Measures

In a communication addressed to Commissioner Donnelly, Warren P. Riordan, sealer of weights and measures, offers a few suggestions worthy the attention and acceptance of housekeepers.

He advises housekeepers to provide themselves with house scales and that when in doubt as to the business dealings of either retailer or wholesaler, to consult the sealer who will treat all such complaints confidentially. The letter:

James E. Donnelly, Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses,
Dear Sir: I respectfully call your attention to a small pamphlet which exists in this city that can be removed providing the public will be guided by a few simple rules. At the outset I wish to advise that this pamphlet will cooperate with the department they will find in settling their monthly accounts a larger credit entered than they are entitled to. This will be the satisfaction of knowing that they have made their purchases in a business-like manner and have received not only good quality but proper quantity.

Here is a little advice that might properly be conveyed in the woman's hand. In a business woman's hand as well as a housekeeper's. Retailers who have accurate and sealed scales and measures. Check up on the quantity of goods delivered. If full quantity has been delivered, then ordering commodities order in terms of weights and measures. This is very important.

Do not order a pair of pants, "bracket of butter," "piece of bacon," "basket of fruit," etc., unless you know how much that pair of pants, piece of bacon, basket of fruit, etc., should weigh. When buying it measured with a yardstick and do not accept measurements by faith.

When retailers are required by law to deliver to you a sworn statement as to weight delivered. Be sure you receive this certificate.

In buying meats demand that all criminals be included with purchases, otherwise a correct check of goods cannot be made.

Supply yourselves with a good scale, about ten pounds capacity, weighing in ounces, a peck measure, a dry quart and a liquid quart.

This department will seal the above without charge. We advise they are brought to the old Main school, Broadway, within the following hours: Daily from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Tuesdays from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

We not only advise to the business dealings of retailers or wholesalers, having suspicion as to the quantity of goods delivered, confide in your own senses and all such complaints will be treated confidentially.

This department wants and needs your cooperation in the cause of honest weights and measures.

Respectfully,
Warren P. Riordan, Sealer.

STRAIGHT TIPS
Passed to Housekeepers by Sealer of Weights and Measures

In a communication addressed to Commissioner Donnelly, Warren P. Riordan, sealer of weights and measures, offers a few suggestions worthy the attention and acceptance of housekeepers.

He advises housekeepers to provide themselves with house scales and that when in doubt as to the business dealings of either retailer or wholesaler, to consult the sealer who will treat all such complaints confidentially. The letter:

James E. Donnelly, Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses,
Dear Sir: I respectfully call your attention to a small pamphlet which exists in this city that can be removed providing the public will be guided by a few simple rules. At the outset I wish to advise that this pamphlet will cooperate with the department they will find in settling their monthly accounts a larger credit entered than they are entitled to. This will be the satisfaction of knowing that they have made their purchases in a business-like manner and have received not only good quality but proper quantity.

Here is a little advice that might properly be conveyed in the woman's hand. In a business woman's hand as well as a housekeeper's. Retailers who have accurate and sealed scales and measures. Check up on the quantity of goods delivered. If full quantity has been delivered, then ordering commodities order in terms of weights and measures. This is very important.

Do not order a pair of pants, "bracket of butter," "piece of bacon," "basket of fruit," etc., unless you know how much that pair of pants, piece of bacon, basket of fruit, etc., should weigh. When buying it measured with a yardstick and do not accept measurements by faith.

When retailers are required by law to deliver to you a sworn statement as to weight delivered. Be sure you receive this certificate.

In buying meats demand that all criminals be included with purchases, otherwise a correct check of goods cannot be made.

Supply yourselves with a good scale, about ten pounds capacity, weighing in ounces, a peck measure, a dry quart and a liquid quart.

This department will seal the above without charge. We advise they are brought to the old Main school, Broadway, within the following hours: Daily from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and Tuesdays from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

We not only advise to the business dealings of retailers or wholesalers, having suspicion as to the quantity of goods delivered, confide in your own senses and all such complaints will be treated confidentially.

This department wants and needs your cooperation in the cause of honest weights and measures.

Respectfully,
Warren P. Riordan, Sealer.

Marvels of the "Midway" at the Panama-Pacific Exposition

Millions of Lights to Flash on the Gold Paved Streets of Great Concessions District--$11,000,000 to Be Spent on Superb Amusement Features--Famed Amusement Purveyors of America and Europe Contribute Wonderful Concessions.

By HAMILTON WRIGHT.

PROGRESS on the "Midway" at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is so far advanced that definite information may be given about this fascinating concessions district. The concessions center will be one of the most marvelous features of the Exposition grounds. At night it will glow with myriads of incandescents; its streets will be paved with gold; shafts of colored light will be hurled against its lofty towers and minarets, the tallest of which will be 250 feet in height.

Many amusement features will be shown for the first time. The art of presenting huge panoramas and dioramas has advanced marvelously during the past decade, and the world's most celebrated amusement purveyors will display their finest productions. The concessions will be notable not only for their huge size and the excellence of their presentation, but for their educational merit. Between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 will, it is estimated, be expended upon installation in the concessions district.

So far the Exposition management has received more than 7,000 applications for concession privileges. The hundred largest concessions already granted will cost more than $7,000,000. A flood of applications is being received from all parts of America and Europe, and a staff of experts is kept busy in segregating them.

Prize For Best Name.

What to call the main street of the concessions center is a question. Chicago had the "Midway," St. Louis the "Pike," Portland the "Trail" and Seattle the "Pay Street." Frank Burt, director of concessions and admissions and one of the greatest amusement authorities in the world, has offered a prize for the best name and is flooded with suggestions. Among the titles suggested are "The Main Drag," "The Locks," "The Canal," "The Zone," "The Isthmus" and "The Ditch."

First work in construction on a number of the concessions has already begun. Among the more important concessions are the "Grand Canyon," a spectacle to be presented by the Santa Fe railway; "Toyland Grown Up," a great city in which the buildings will be enlarged reproductions of children's toys (Toyland will be a superbly artistic spectacle, a mass of wonderful palaces covering twelve acres, and it will be presented by Frederick Thompson, the famous creator of Luna Park at Coney Island); the Panama canal, working model of the great canal at Panama; "Creation," based on the first chapter of Genesis; "The Evolution of the American Navy"; a replica of the world famous city of Nuremberg; an Ice Palace in which international skating and hockey matches will be held; a Portuguese Camp; the Battle of Gettysburg; Hagenbeck's Wild Animal exhibit and prehistoric garden; Asia; Mahomet's Mountain; the Dayton Flood and the Aeroscope.

"Grand Canyon of Arizona."

One of the most artistic of all the concessions will be the "Grand Canyon of Arizona" in all its grandeur and power, as seen from the platform of an observation car. Some of the most noted scenic artists in America are engaged upon the canvas, which will depict the scene of the canyon in its natural colors. This concession, to occupy 200 by 750 feet of ground space, is now under construction and when completed will cost $350,000.

The Santa Fe railroad plans to make it of educational value rather than one to amuse only. Guides will deliver lectures on the points of interest, and in harmony with the setting of the panorama will be an Indian village in which members of the Pueblo, San Domingo, Navaho, Zuni and Hopi Indian tribes will present their dances in native costume and display their handicraft.

"Toyland Grown Up" will be a walled principality, almost as large as an exposition itself. The walled city will be entered by three mammoth gates. The first gate will be the Gate of Fun, and Toyland will be entered by Crazy street, with its crooked, crooked buildings and crooked, crooked streets and crooked, crooked street car lines. Everything will be crooked, crooked, with laughs galore. The second gate will be the Gate of the Court of Fairyland, the Gate of Beauty.

"CREATION," BASED ON THE FIRST CHAPTER OF GENESIS

The third gate is the entrance to the City of the Wicked King, where is held captive the doll princess. This is the Gate of Thrills.

Nymphs of Fairyland.

Rolling its water into Fairyland will be a wonderful cascade, which will pour 30,000 gallons of water a minute into a lagoon where beautiful girls and nymphs perform graceful evolutions in the water as it rushes down. The cascade is surrounded by a magnificent building with golden domes and cupolas decorated with Christmas trees. A colossal staircase on either side of the building. Beneath the dome is the Court of Youth, and thence flows the water that the sightseer in 1915 must dip his fingers in with difficulty. In the Fountain of Youth the visitor must pass through initiation ceremonies before he is able to enjoy the pleasures of Toyland Grown Up. Among other features will be Mother Hubbard's Cucumber, sixty feet in height; a great show, as large as a six story city building and built in part in the form of a wheel, since this show will have huge wheels like the Ferris wheel at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago. By means of these wheels the sightseer will be raised up. In Toyland there will be, too, the City of Peter Pan, the town that never grows up. Toyland, indeed, will be the fairyland that the child dreams of. Altogether the Toyland concession will cost more than $1,000,000 and will require more than 4,000,000 feet of lumber. Its streets and canals if stretched in a row would be five miles long. The model of the Panama canal, to cost $250,000, will be an exact reproduction of the great work at Panama. Gates like Mahomet's Mountain and all phases of the canal with which Americans are familiar will be reproduced in miniature. Fortifications will be shown, and the workings of the great gates at the locks will be illustrated in a way that will, perhaps, make their operation as plain to the visitor as if he visited the canal itself. Two thousand people will be able to make the trip through the "canal" every thirty minutes. Incidentally, it may be observed, the gates to the concessions district, as the visitor enters it from Van Ness avenue, will be reproductions of the great spillways at Panama.

Great Navy Panorama.

"The Evolution of the Dreadnaught" will be a panoramic illustration of the birth, growth and development of the American navy, entailing an outlay of $150,000. The concession is in charge of E. W. McConnell, who produced a "Trip to the North Pole" at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis in 1904. The historic incidents in the life of the navy, such as Perry's victory at Lake Erie, the battle of the Monitor and Merrimac, Dewey's victory at Manila, lay and the defeat of the Spanish fleet at Santiago, will be shown. All of the scenes will be presented in chronological order. The visitor in 1915, as he enters the concession, will see first a panorama depicting the early events of America's naval history, and then panoramas of the later events, with which every schoolboy is familiar. Throughout the successive stages of the panorama the illusion of warships in action will be preserved. The final ships of the navies of the world anchored off Harbor View, with the white squadron coming through the Golden Gate. This panorama will become an actuality, for the nations of the world have been invited by Uncle Sam to send their best battleships and cruisers for the opening of the exposition. The invitation is meeting with splendid response. It is expected that more than 200 of the world's battleships will take part. Each of the twenty-eight nations that have already officially decided as governments to participate in the exposition will send one or more of its representative war craft to the Golden Gate, and a number of the nations have already given assurance that several of their finest fighting craft will assemble at the Golden Gate. Mr. Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty of England, has promised that Great Britain will be represented with a number of the finest Dreadnaughts. The spectacle of this vast fleet assembled from the world's navies will be without parallel in history.

The European nations will assemble their battleships at Hampton Roads, and thence, after an official review, this composite fleet of the world's fighting craft, the largest fleet ever assembled, will proceed through the Panama canal to the Golden Gate.

Higher Than Ferris Wheel.

A novel feature will be the "Aeroscope," an inverted pendulum, which will carry sightseers to an elevation of 268 feet. This is four feet higher than the famous Ferris wheel at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago. The Aeroscope presents a novel feature in construction. Crane arms, 240 feet in height, mounted upon a steel tower fifty feet high and made of two parallel riveted trusses, will operate as a balanced lever. One of the crane arms will carry a double decked cage for passengers.

One of the most attractive of the concessions will be that reproducing the historic market place of old Nuremberg, probably the quaintest point in the old world. Nuremberg today is the only one of the great cities of the German empire which has preserved its medieval appearance. Nuremberg was the home of the Meistersaenger. Here the "Iron Maiden," instrument of torture, first made her grisly entrance into the dungeon chamber; here the independent robber barons first held sway against all who came; here the incomparable work of Franz Hals was first produced. Many of these interesting relics will be shown.

The banquet halls, folk dance halls, restaurants, cafes and concert gardens will be presented as they existed five centuries ago. Employees will be dressed in the native costumes of the fifteenth century that visitors may feel that they are in the fascinating old city of Nuremberg as it existed in the height of its glory.

Typical of the early days of the west will be the "Forty-nine Camp," in which the characters made famous by Bret Harte will be reincarnated and mingle with the visitors. Stagecoaches of the days of '49 will meet the visitors at the entrance of the Union Ferry building and take them out to the "camp." Roulette wheels, faro games and stagecoach robberies will appeal to every sightseer. There will be no actual gambling, for games of chance will not be permitted upon the exposition grounds. Nevada mining men under the leadership of Sam Davis, editor of the Carson City Appeal, will operate this concession at an outlay of $100,000. The face of the "Ice Palace," to be presented by Montreal concessionaires, will be unique in design of ice, through which will run ammonia pipes. In the interior will be a skating rink three-fourths of an acre in area, upon which will be held international hockey matches.

Unique "Roadtown."

A unique display in one of the exhibit palaces will be "Roadtown," a modern skyscraper laid on its side, with the pipes and wires and elevators running horizontally instead of vertically, with the inhabitants of the building having free access to the open air that surrounds it.

"Roadtown" is a continuous movement. Instead of grouping houses together, man does in the building of a modern city the exhibitor suggests a novel idea that cities should be strung along for miles through hill and dale, giving every family an ample and handy supply of fresh air. "Roadtown" is to be built of "poured" concrete—Edison's system—and it will be earthquake proof, fireproof, soundproof and germproof. All the transportation will be conducted in the basement, where a monorail transportation system will be used.

In the "Submarines" concession sightseers will travel actually beneath the water in submarine craft corresponding in appearance and in general equipment with the most modern type of submarines used in the world's navies.

Dayton Flood Reproduced.

Henry Ellsworth, famed throughout the world as a producer of the Oberammergau, the Passion play, which has brought thousands upon thousands of pilgrims to the picturesque shrine in the foothills of the Bavarian Alps, will produce a great concession to be known as the "Dayton Flood." Mechanical devices upon an elaborate scale will reproduce many of the thrilling incidents at the time of Dayton's great disaster. The spectacle will convey a lesson, and the courage with which Dayton overcame its disaster will be exalted.

"Mahomet's Mountain" another large and interesting attraction, will represent a huge man, ninety-six feet tall, holding up a mountain. Visitors will journey through the mountain, visiting caves, waterfalls and many spectacular places.

MEDIATION WILL SUCCEED, -WILSON

ROSE AGAIN WITNESS AT THE BECKER TRIAL

Told How Becker and Rosenthal Had Entered Into Partnership; How They Quarreled; and How Murder Was Plotted

NEW YORK, May 12.—"Bald Jack" Rose, star witness of the first trial of Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, appeared in that role again today. He calmly told of the part he played in the events leading up to the gambler's death. Substantially, it was the same story that he told at the first trial. He spoke in a low tone and at times gazed directly at the defendant.

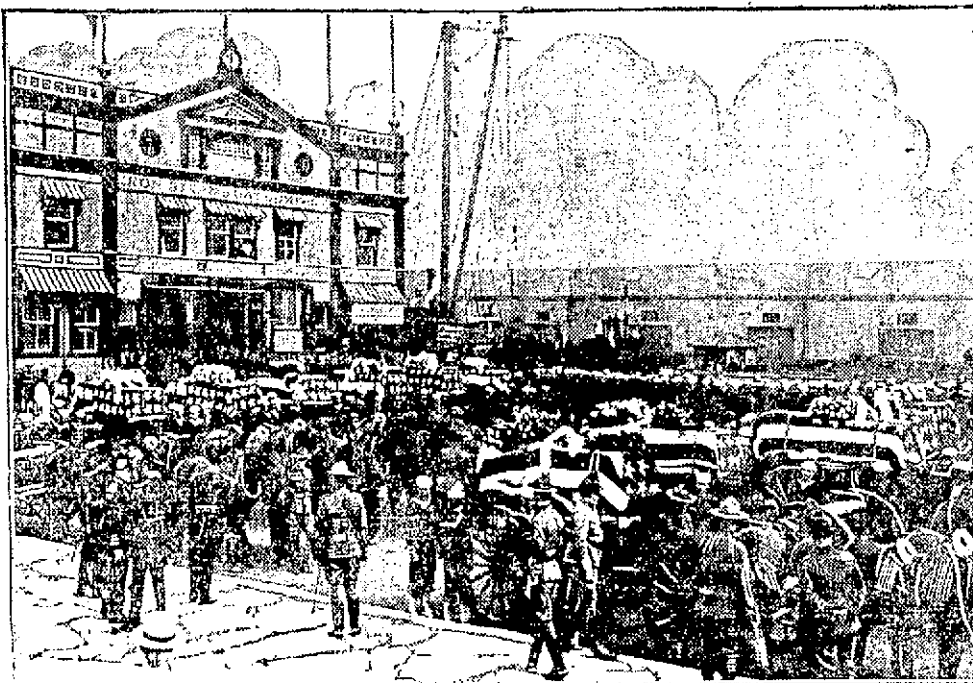

Briefly, Rose recited how Becker and Rosenthal had entered into partnership in a gambling establishment how they quarreled; how exposure for Becker as a police lieutenant was imminent and how Rosenthal's death was plotted.

NOT TO BLAME GUNMEN
NEW YORK, May 12.—When the trial of Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal was resumed today, District Attorney Charles S. Whitman called Dr. Dennis Taylor to the witness stand as the last of several witnesses to establish the death of Rosenthal. Dr. Taylor at the time of the murder was an ambulance surgeon and his testimony was necessary because it was he who pronounced the death.

President and Cabinet Discuss Latest Developments — Mexican Government Orders Release of U. S. Vice Consul Silliman—Five So. Americans Arrested for Sniping — Adm. Mayo Says Lobos Island Has Not Been Occupied — Fighting at Mazatlan — British Cruiser Ordered to Tampico

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Members of the cabinet, after a prolonged conference with President Wilson today on the Mexican situation, declared the president maintained confidence that mediation would succeed and that further serious consequences in Mexico would be averted.

Most of the discussion in the cabinet meeting, it was said, related to mediation and the views to be presented on behalf of this government by Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, when the South American envoys seek views of the United States and Huerta's representatives at the Niagara Falls conference.

The situation at Tampico was reported to have been discussed. Complications that might arise over the foreign-owned oil properties there should destruction result from the conflict between constitutionalists and federal forces, have been under consideration for some time. Lack of definite information as to the progress of the battle raging at Tampico is causing cabinet members considerable concern.

The report from London that Great Britain had ordered the Bristol, a speedy cruiser, to proceed to Tampico, was not regarded as particularly significant. As the Bristol is of light draft, it was believed she might be used to operate in the Pacific river, along which the British oil properties are located.

Secretary Bryan announced after the meeting that the representations made to this government by the mediators in behalf of the South American "snipers" under arrest in Vera Cruz were made at the request of the Huerta government. He understood, he said, that this had been done on the ground that the "sniping" had occurred in Mexican territory. He added that there was a question as to whether one of the South Americans accused was a Brazilian or a Venezuelan.

PRESIDENT AND CABINET

DISCUSS LATEST DEVELOPMENTS
WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Wilson and members of the cabinet discussed today plans for participation by the United States in the Mexican mediation conference to begin next Monday at Niagara Falls, Ont., and various problems which have arisen since the occupation of Vera Cruz by American military forces.

Just before the cabinet met a message was received from General Funston at Vera Cruz, in which the American commander declared that no attention should be paid to "alarmist reports" that Mexican forces were threatening to attack the Vera Cruz water works. There was no indication of movement of Mexican troops in preparation for such attack, the message said.

"There have been rumors," Gen. Funston added, "that an attack was threatened. These have been due to remarks attributed to General Maas. The water works cannot be taken from us by force. If the pipe line should be cut it could be repaired in a few hours."

U. S. Mail Held By Mexicans
General Funston said that 200 sacks of American mail destined for Mexico City and delivered at the break in the railroad, still lay on the tracks in possession of the Mexican outposts. He had no news of Private Parks, who rode into the Mexican lines and has not returned.

Among matters the president and cabinet had under consideration throughout the morning was the appeal from the Brazilian minister at Mexico City to Gen. Funston on behalf of five South Americans, under arrest at Vera Cruz for "sniping" American soldiers from a Norwegian steamer. Three Brazilians are among the prisoners, and the appeal, coming from a diplomatic representative of one of the mediating nations, has presented a delicate problem for decision.

Formal representations in behalf of the prisoners have been made at the state department by the Brazilian ambassador and the Chilean and Argentine ministers.

Lobos Island Affair
The naming by American forces of the lighthouse on Lobos island, off Tampico, which Huerta's foreign minister has protested is a violation of the armistice, also was taken up in the cabinet meeting.

Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, chosen to represent the United States at the mediation conference, awaited word early today from Secretary Bryan before completing arrangements for their mission.

Consul W. B. Alger from Mazatlan, which is besieged by between 14,000 and 16,000 constitutionalists, reported today at the state department for instructions.

Pitiful Condition
Thirty Americans, most of them women and children, were left at Mazatlan at their own wish. Several hundred foreigners of other nationalities also refused to leave. Consul Alger said that the country was in a pitiful condition as the result of the internal warfare.

GAME CALLED OFF ON THIRD BASE

Lowell Could Not Lose Today as No Contest Was Played

Perhaps it was because the Ponies of Centerville were to present Frank McPherson, the Lowell boy who is making good at second base for Lynn, a gold watch that Manager Gray was so anxious to have the game played this afternoon, though he said his reason was because he wanted to put a crimp in the all-conquering career of the sad sea wavers. However, only a few went out to Spaulding park, not enough to pay the guarantee that the visiting club must get when a game is played, and those who went out were hoping that the game would be called off after they got there, for while it was cold down-town, it was colder at Spaulding park and a slight mist made conditions ever more unfavorable.

Just before 5 o'clock the rain began to fall, and Manager Gray stated that he would take advantage of the half-hour limit and wait that time for a change in the weather for he was certainly hot after that game and weather conditions and box office receipts had no terrors for him.

But after a short wait and having heard that Lawrence and Haverhill and Worcester and Fitchburg were not playing, Manager Gray gave up the ghost and the game was called off.

PREMIER ASQUITH

To Introduce an Amendment to the Home Rule Bill

LONDON, May 12.—Premier Asquith in the house of commons today pledged the government to introduce an amending bill to the home rule for Ireland measure in the hope of it being passed by agreement between the parties. If this offer is accepted, he said, both the original home rule bill and the amending bill will become law practically simultaneously. This, he contended, was the only proper way of carrying out any settlement which might be agreed upon.

The Parent-Teachers' association will meet at the Tabbot school, North Billerica, Thursday afternoon at 3.15. Members of the association will furnish the program. Everybody invited.

GOES TO JURY

Case of Rolfe vs. Clarke Ends — Case Against B. & M. Called

In superior court this forenoon the case of Ellen M. Rolfe vs. Elizabeth Clarke, administratrix of the estate of Maria J. Willbank, late of Lowell, was given to the jury. Mrs. Rolfe claims that the estate owes her money for services while the late Mrs. Willbank conducted a store on Bridge street.

YOUNG VS. H. & M.
The case of Detloff C. Voss vs. Boston & Maine railroad, an action of tort, was on trial the greater part of the day. The ad damnum is placed at $20,000. Leonard C. Roberts appears for the plaintiff and Trull & Wier for the defense.

The plaintiff claims that while alighting from a train at the Medford station on the afternoon of Oct. 25, 1912, the train was suddenly started and he was thrown under the wheels. He claims that his foot was so badly crushed and bruised that it was necessary to have it amputated and that he was otherwise injured.

88 and 89 CENTRAL BLOCK

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

The C. M. A. C., originally known as "The Association of Catholic Musicians," was organized just 25 years ago and on May 17 will observe its silver jubilee. The organization was a success from its infancy and started its career with a series of concerts and dramatic entertainments that drew large and appreciative audiences. The Sun of a quarter of a century ago has the following report of one of its earliest efforts:

"The Association of Catholic Musicians presented the grand opera, 'Pharaoh's Daughter,' in Huntington hall, Tuesday evening, and in every particular the performance was a triumph of success."

Quite a number of clergymen occupied the boxes and enjoyed the opera. The chorus was made up of 75 young ladies and 50 young men, and made a powerful volume of melody. The cast was as follows:

Pharaoh, King of Egypt, Al. Rickett
Orosius, Pharaoh's daughter, Miss Rebecca Oll
Rhodame, Egyptian girl, Dr. A. Vincelle
Nemrod, captain of the royal guard, M. A. Bernier
Sarah, Moses' Mother, Miss Angelina Coto
Lea, Moses' sister, Miss Malvina Monke
Moses in the cradle, Miss Melanie Frappier

"All the characters were finely put on the singing and acting showing great cultivation. Mr. P. F. Haggerty directed the musical numbers and did much in making the opera a success. Mr. Ed. Vincelle presided at the piano."

In another column the old Sun says: "The first weekly concert under the auspices of L'Association Catholique was held Sunday evening. Those who took part were Messrs Thierion, Constantineau, Bergeron, Sira, Bouchet, Laura and M. L. Renaud and Messrs Cyrille Constantineau, Martel, Cote and H. Girard."

Prof. Haggerty, the veteran musical director, is a familiar figure on the street every day, while Alphonse Rickett is still actively engaged as choir director at Notre Dame de Lourdes church, at the age of 72 years. Ed Vincelle was well known and decidedly popular in this city in those days, and if you ever go to Ottawa look him up for he is now an official translator for the house of parliament of Canada, and by the way, associated with him in a similar position is our old newspaper friend, "Thriller" Belmont, formerly of this city. They are both making good in first class positions.

Ward Seven Politics

If you ever lived in the ward 7 district years ago and had a vote, you must have met Cyrille Constantineau, who for many years was prominent in ward 7 politics and was one of the late "Bill" Hayes' strongest lieutenants. In order to get Cyrille's goat one needed only to say that Cyrille claimed to carry the French vote around in his pocket. In the memorable battle for the legislature between W. H. L. Hayes and ex-Senator James McKimley, which was won by the latter by the narrow margin of seven votes, with a drop of three on the recount, Cyrille, Sam Snow and the late Edgar Hill conducted the Hayes campaign, and there never was a campaign and caucus like it, before or since. It was nominally a republican caucus, but everybody on the check list voted except two men who were unavoidably detained in jail and one other who had his wife send a letter of regret, stating as the doctors had decided that he couldn't live overnight and because he thought it would be too inconvenient for his family for him to pass away in his own home, he had reluctantly decided not to attend the caucus, but hoped in the near future to look down upon his friend seated in the halls of the legislature. Walter Belmont was chairman and Harry W. J. Hayes was secretary. There was great excitement throughout and at one time when it became necessary for the secretary to sit on the ballot box to insure its remaining inside the hall, Harry took the wind out of the box excited partisans by calmly drawing forth from his pocket a box of cigarettes which he started to eat with evident enjoyment and without the least concern for the exciting scenes that were transpiring around him. The Hayes faction had a challenging committee headed by "Joe" Smith, whose duties were to challenge any democratic "ringers" who might attempt to vote, that is to say, who might attempt to vote for McKimley. That challenging committee job was no sinecure, for there were as many Hayes democrats "ringers" as there were McKimley "ringers" and the committee had to exercise rare discrimination in separating the wheat from the chaff. As the evening progressed a man stopped within the hall and got a ballot. As he approached the ballot box someone whispered: "Look at that guy, he's just got out of jail. He was sent up for beating his wife."

"He shall be challenged on general principles," promptly declared "Joe" Smith. "Any man who beats his wife is not a respectable citizen. I have known republicans who have beaten, but not wife-beaters." And the vote was challenged. Cyrille Constantineau is now in the west engaged in the real estate business and is prospering.

Wanted: $450,000 for a City Hall
It has been generally admitted that the construction of the present city hall was one memorable occasion on which the city got its money's worth. It was built under the direction of a commission composed of the following well known citizens: Charles D. Palmer, George W. Fifield, John J. Pickman, John F. Phillips, Prentiss Webster, Geo. Holmes, John F. Howe, John Welch, William B. Francis, Albert A. Haggerty, William D. Livingston and Francis C. Plunkett.

Just a quarter of a century ago these commissioners were looking around for the money with which to construct the new municipal building, for the old Sun says:

"The city hall commissioners held a lengthy meeting Monday and discussed the amount of money needed for the erection of the new city hall. After considerable discussion the commissioners decided to request the commission on finance to recommend to the city council a loan of $450,000 of which $200,000 would be for the city hall and $150,000 for the Memorial building. Of that sum, $100,000 would be used this year and next year the legislature would be asked to allow the city to make a 20 year loan for the remainder. The present limit of the city's indebtedness is $600,000. If the city council approves the loan asked for by the commissioners it will mean in accordance with the plan named by the council. In asking for the $450,000, the commissioners are of the opinion that the public want the building constructed on a nickard plan, but want the best that money can get. They ask for the large amount so that they will not have to have their wants curtailed by lack of money. If the council does not desire to spend so much money, the commissioners will govern themselves according to the amount given."

They received the desired amount and erected a building that is a credit to the city.

Dick Conway's Palmy Days

While I hesitate to place a man of such youthful appearance as Dick Conway, the old time ball player, in the "old man" class, still as he was a shining star in the baseball firmament 25 years ago, I must say a word about him. The Sun of a quarter of a century ago has the following:

"We understand that Dick Conway will be given a great reception when he appears on the Riverside grounds with Worcester. The Crescent club will present him a silver service and the Worcester Temperance Institute will give him a gold watch. It will cost about $200 for these presents."

The presentation of the silver service at that time was most appropriate for Dick was married, the year previous, April 10, 1888, and the old Sun had the following account of his wedding:

The marriage of Richard Conway, pitcher of the Boston baseball team, took place Tuesday evening in St. Mary's church, Lawrence. Rev. Fr. O'Brien officiating. The bride, Miss Katie A. Moelle, is a sister of George Moelle, now with the New Orleans team. The groom was attended by Joe O'Hara of Lowell, and the bridesmaid, Miss Mary Finn, of Lawrence. At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home on Garden street. Mr. and Mrs. Conway left for a week's sojourn in New York."

George Moelle, Dick's brother-in-law, went from New Orleans to Chicago, where he made good behind the bat. He is now in business in Lawrence. Dick stayed in the game until his arm went bad. I recall one cold, wet night long ago, when the skating rink in the Moelle building in Middlesex street was in full bloom, the enterprising managers of the rink had advertised that Dick Conway and the late Mike Kelly, the "10,000 beauty" who had been at that time but recently purchased from Chicago by the Boston Nationals, would give an exhibition of battery work at the rink. A very fan in Lowell turned out in the rain to see them, but it was only a "pipe," neither one of them put in an appearance and perhaps the fans didn't "holler."

I saw Dick and Mike Kelly perform in a most remarkable game on the old South End grounds when Richard was burning them over to heat the world. It was on the morning of Memorial day "some" years ago and Boston was playing New York. I remember rightly, Mike Tiernan was the pitcher of the Giants. Boston went first to bat and at the end of the ninth the score was 9 to 9 and the extra inning was necessary. In the 10th the home team did an awful job on the New York pitcher, with three batters and home runs galore, scoring 10 runs in the extra inning, the game closing with Boston a winner, 19 to 9. I nearly fell out of Sullivan's lower rooting for Dick, though at that time I had no idea that he would become persona friends. Dick has the reputation of having knocked the longest home run hit in the history of baseball. He swatted the ball on the South End grounds in Boston and it was recovered in Providence, R. I., 50 miles away. Dick knocked the ball over the left field fence. The Boston & Albany tracks run along the outside of that fence. A freight train bound for Providence was standing at the time and the ball landed in through the open door of one of the cars and was not recovered until the train stopped at Providence. Some awe!

Sullivan's Tower

The younger generation of Lowell fans will probably wonder what is meant by Sullivan's tower. It has long since gone out of existence and it is maintained for a mighty conflagration to kill it, after the Boston Baseball association had tried unsuccessfully for years to put it out of commission. Along the right field fence of the South End grounds were a number of cement houses and the tenants there-

NATURALIZED CITIZENS

There is a disposition in some quarters to criticize the stand taken by Mayor Conley of Boston a few days ago when he came into contact with the army of the unemployed he asked them how many of them were American citizens, but there are angles of the question that deserve to be studied by a citizen on broad ground and by citizens of political economy. At the first one may be tempted to regard the mayor's question as being a question of citizenship, but on second thought it turns out to be a very pertinent question indeed.

Whatever one's rank of Mayor Conley's action personally or politically, it must admit that he is a very man of marked ability and keen intellect, and to such a man the minority of the unemployed army must have been apparent. He must have known that there were some of the unemployed army who would strive to get a footing on the ranks of the foreigner who because of his ignorance of American manners and institutions, is in a position to be easily misled by the man who takes it as a personal interest in public affairs. Besides this, the unemployed army is a body of men who are lacking in individuality, who are desirous of regaining the industrial advantages of this country while retaining the opportunity of becoming good citizens of America. The fear of the hands displaced when Mayor Conley asked all citizens to declare themselves proved that Swift's army has a majority gathered from the alien races.

America and all countries have duties to perform for their workers, but that duty also demands that they should be able to perform it. They should be able to perform it in a way that will be to the benefit of the country and we all know that a man who is not able to perform his duty is a burden on the country. It is fortunate that the majority of the unemployed army are not of the alien race. Any man who is not able to perform his duty is a burden on the country. It is fortunate that the majority of the unemployed army are not of the alien race.

What in this case does "justice" include? Frequently pardons are held up because of the personal opposition of the injured party or a relative of the injured party. Those who so object undoubtedly feel that a pardon of the prisoner would be an injustice. But there is also the possible injury to society which is merely a collection of individuals. In the strict interpretation of the governor's ideas, therefore, we may assume that in weighing the merits or demerits of the case involved he will not forget that apart from the personal side of the matter there is always the basic requirement that before a prisoner is released, the rights of society must be considered.

settle the present controversy without embroiling the country in a costly and thankless war. Those who shout loudly for armed intervention are not the men who would fight and fall, but from such intervention would follow a trail of sorrow that would reach every city and town of importance in the entire country. With indeed it is that so many stand ready to take the place of the men of Cambridge and the sixteen other cities who fell when the United States advanced on the Mexican coast, but the families of these who died will hope, and people generally will hope, that despite the appeals of the June, other families will be spared the pangs suffered by the relatives of the dead who died so well.

GOVERNOR ON PARDONS

Owing to the great number of pardons issued by Governor Foss during his term of office, the sentiments of Governor Walsh in this regard, expressed last Sunday in Charlestown state prison, will be followed with marked interest. That Governor Walsh is as much in sympathy with the problems of prisoners as was his predecessor is very evident, but it is also apparent that he will be more conservative in the issuing of pardons. Though the extremely humanitarian and the rightly old-fashioned may not be entirely satisfied with his expressed views in this respect, but on the whole he seems to have taken a just and wise view of the prison problems of Massachusetts. The main argument in the governor's address is that in weighing whether he should extend executive clemency or not, he will be swayed by the influence of the action on others. "I want you to know," he said to the prisoners, "that if I could find good cause and good reason, and do no injustice to any other man, there is not a man here that I would not be glad to give his liberty."

What in this case does "justice" include? Frequently pardons are held up because of the personal opposition of the injured party or a relative of the injured party. Those who so object undoubtedly feel that a pardon of the prisoner would be an injustice. But there is also the possible injury to society which is merely a collection of individuals. In the strict interpretation of the governor's ideas, therefore, we may assume that in weighing the merits or demerits of the case involved he will not forget that apart from the personal side of the matter there is always the basic requirement that before a prisoner is released, the rights of society must be considered.

KNOX AGAINST REPEAL

The argument of Philander C. Knox, who espouses the cause of those who protest against the repeal of the tolls clause of the Panama canal act is a learned and weighty one, but it seems to avoid the controversial matter and emphasizes a secondary issue. In other words Mr. Knox wants to exempt the American ships from tolls because he considers that we have the right to do so if we choose, but he does not succeed in beating down the assertion of Senator Lodge that though we have the right, it is not well that we should exercise the right. To do something that would be disadvantageous to this country politically and economically does not seem good policy, especially when it is certain that in repealing the clause protested against, this country gives up no right, treaty or otherwise. The tolls exemption clause seems doubly undesirable when it is apparent that any dubious good it may have could be served in another and less offensive manner were such the will of the country at a later date.

PROTECTING THE CHILDREN

The life of a child in summer is just as important as in winter and yet though the city has made provision for the saving of lives in the winter time of skating, little or no provision has been made to safeguard the thousands of little chaps that will use the canals and rivers in the near future. The call of cool waters during the sultry months so soon to come is a call too strong to be resisted by juveniles and it is too bad that one may low count on the certainty of more than one death unless the city takes some means of protecting the little ones.

A Trip to California Has Been Placed Within Your Reach

Why not make a reservation on one of the Burlington Route "Personality Conducted Parties to California?" If you would like to make this trip under unusually attractive conditions and at an especially low cost, I would like to hear from you right away. You can travel with a select party and with all the comforts of a Pullman Touring Sleeping Car throughout—and at minimum cost. A carefully trained man will accompany the party all the way. You will not find him to be thoroughly competent, good-natured and kindly, as he has been especially selected because of his knack for making people comfortable, as well as because of his long experience.

You will be especially interested in learning that the total cost of this trip will be within your reach. Just call or write and I will gladly explain all the details. Alex Stokes, New England Passenger Agent, C. & N. Y. R. R., 264 Washington St., Boston.

swimmers. To swim in the dirty waters of the canal and parts of the river is of itself offensive to contemplate, but when one realizes that hundreds have been drowned in the past ten or fifteen years, it is nothing short of criminal that protective measures have not been adopted which would allow the youngsters to swim under proper supervision and without danger of losing their lives.

It seems out of the question to hope for any form of municipal baths while the officials of the city government are in their present "economical" state of mind, but the city is not rich enough to pay for the sewage that have been lost for lack of municipal provision. Until such time, then, as we can get some form of public swimming bath in the open, would it not be possible to restrict the swimmers to some definite sections and to see that such places are adequately policed? If something is not done speedily we may look forward to the usual drowning incidents that are a yearly reproach to Lowell.

RE-MAKING A STREET

Commercial Boston is rejoicing at the improvement of Avery street, a narrow thoroughfare in the heart of the business section for the development of which many individuals and organizations have been fighting for a long time. The improvement is a notable example of what must be done in re-planning a city when "city planning" was neglected at its foundation. What was a narrow and unsightly alley will soon be a broad and progressive business street allowing freedom for traffic and splendid business opportunities. At the present time the improvement seems like destruction rather than construction for much undesirable property must be removed before the new Avery street is ready for business. Avery street is only an indication of what will happen sometime in the vicinity of our own city hall when the city abandons its penurious attitude and spends money wisely and well.

Good Cheer Aids Digestion of Food

Dyspeptics Can Make the Rest of the Family Happy by Using a Laxative-Tonic

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table depend so much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experience of some former dyspeptics who overcame their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way. The best advice one can give—but it is advice that is seldom heeded—is to eat slowly and masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if slow eating and careful mastication fail the next aid is one close to nature, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant, and in addition to helping in the digestion of the food, acts gently on the liver and bowels, ridding them of the accumulation of waste that should long ago have been passed off. It is safe, reliable, pleasant-tasting, and results are guaranteed.

Major S. Martin, of Joplin, Mo., now 75, thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped him to a longer and happier life. He has not felt so good in years as he has since taking this excellent medicine, and in spite of his 75 years he says he feels like a boy. It is the ideal remedy for indigestion, no matter how chronic, biliousness, headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances.

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for 50 cents per bottle, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the failure of chewing mints and candy or of taking cathartics, salts, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by automatically training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to normal.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 415 Washington Street, Mendocino, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Does a 32 a day man, when lifted to a $5 wage, become a better worker or does the lift go to his head and spoil him?

You remember how, when Henry Ford announced his big division of profits, hundreds said it would simply make his men reckless and extravagant.

Those who said that were mostly employers fearful that their own workers would become discontented. Yet some may have said it in good faith, not knowing much about psychology.

Well, here's the answer: John H. Lee, production manager in the Ford plant, says that already the efficiency of the Ford working force has increased 44 per cent, since the new deal went into effect.

Getting more, the men try to do more, their heart as well as their brain is in their work.

This may not come true in every instance, for human nature can fall pretty low, but this Ford experiment has gone on long enough to draw an average. Lee's testimony would seem to be conclusive.

THE FRIENDS THAT LOVE US ALWAYS

The friends that love us always, in the good times and the bad; The friends that love us always, are the friends that keep us glad. The friends that cling in closest As they do in crisis are those That have made the trials of hardship seem the paths of song and rose.

The friends that love us always, when we are in their way or not, Are the friends that love us most. When the others are forgot. The friends that stick the closest When the trouble grows the worst. The friends that love us always, just the way they did at first.

They are the crowning jewels Of the coronets we wear In the dreams of tender moments When the shadows start to leave; And we hope their names forever And we kiss their faces clear. The friends that love us always, In the sun or shadows, dear.

HERBERT H. RUSSELL RESIGNS FROM PARK BOARD—ELECTED TO SUCCEED HARVEY B. GREENE

Herbert H. Russell has resigned the park board to which he was elected a few days ago. He tendered his resignation to Mayor Murray yesterday afternoon and while Mr. Russell has no explanation to offer to the public, it is believed that he resigned rather than being about the election of a woman for the park department, the purpose, it is alleged, for which he was elected.

Mr. Russell's brief letter of resignation to the mayor was as follows: Lowell, Mass., May 11, 1914. Hon. Edmund J. Murphy, Mayor, City of Lowell.

Dear Sir—I wish herewith to tender my resignation as a member of the park commission of the city of Lowell, and resignation to take effect forthwith. Very truly yours,

M'DONUGAL IS ON TRIAL

TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER BEGINS SERIES OF BUILDERS' ACCEPTANCE TRIALS

ROCKLAND, Me., May 12.—Scheduled for 26 runs over the measured mile course, the torpedo boat destroyer McDougal, today began the first of the series of builders' acceptance trials. Today's work was for the purpose of standardizing the propellers, which is necessary before the endurance trials can be held.

The McDougal went on the course at 7 a. m., gradually increasing her speed from eight knots to maximum which on the four hour run, must exceed 30 1/2 knots. As the destroyer or already has exceeded the latter speed on her unofficial trials, the builders had no concern as to this week's results.

The McDougal was built at Bath, has a displacement of 1,020 tons and belongs to the oil burning type. Steering and turning tests were in order after today's standardization and the destroyer was not expected to dock before night.

The board of inspection and survey for ships which has charge of these trials, is composed almost wholly of new members. Capt. H. B. Wilson, former commander of the battleship North Dakota, is president, and Commander George E. Gelm is recorder.

A SACRED PROFESSION

Dr. Washington Gladden Glad-dens the Newspaper Heart by These Kind Words

LAWRENCE, Kan., May 12.—The newspaper profession is as sacred a calling as the ministry, in the opinion of Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, O., as expressed in an address made before hundreds of newspapermen here today at the National Newspaper conference being conducted by the University of Kansas.

Other speakers on today's program were H. F. Harrington of the Ohio State Journal and Will Irwin, a magazine writer. A paper by Frank B. Noyes of Washington, D. C., president of the Associated Press, on press association work, was read.

Dr. Gladden declared what he referred to as a tendency of some newspapers toward "habits of exaggeration" and the exploitation of crime, vice and scandal. He outlined four great tasks for American journalism in the performance of which he said it might aid in purifying and invigorating public opinion.

Raps Yellow Journals

First, to teach people to avoid exaggeration and violent speech and to cultivate moderate and rational modes of expression.

Second, to resist the tendencies

which demoralize democracy and which substitute the mob mind for the deliberate habit.

Third, to hold the popular judgment firmly to the truth that character and manhood and not money and popularity are the central values of human existence.

Fourth, to turn the thoughts of men more and more from the negative virtue of detecting and exposing the evil to the positive virtue of discerning and praising the good.

"I know of some newspapers," said Dr. Gladden, "that are doing much to bring to earth a reign of good will. They are disposed to discern the good and rejoice in it; they cultivate gracious speech and kindly judgment of their fellowmen and yet I fear that it is true that in collecting and presenting the news of the day the habit which so largely prevails of fixing the attention upon evil of society, of looking the seamy side of life upon, of exploiting crime and vice and scandal furnishes to quite too large an extent the common notion of the function of journalism."

A large part of the day was given to discussions of news associations and questions pertaining to memberships in the same. Charles H. Grasty, editor of the Baltimore Sun, is to address the editors tonight.

FOUR MEN INJURED ON B. & M. HANDCAR

Ran Into Work Train This Morning Near Car Shops at Billerica and Were Sent to St. John's Hospital—Able to Leave Later

A Boston & Maine hand car, used by section hands to carry equipment along the tracks, crashed into a work train below the railroad station at Billerica shortly after 7 o'clock this morning and four men who occupied the hand car were thrown into a deep ditch beside the tracks and had a narrow escape from being seriously injured. They were brought to this city in a train and met at the local depot by the ambulance which conveyed them to St. John's hospital, where their injuries were attended to.

The four men injured are all residents of this city. They are: Jeremiah Moynihan, 12 Marsh street, who sustained a scalp wound and possible internal injuries; Ned Baulett, 3 Cedar street, 22 Tucker st., left arm badly injured; Joe Robitaille, 57 Perkins street, injuries to face and body; and Nazaire Tetreault, 202 Chester street, bruises about the chest and shoulder.

Aunt Sally's Advice To Beauty Seekers

P. J. K. asks: "Is there anything better than massage to remove wrinkles?" Too much massage may aggravate a wrinkled condition, tending to loosen and loosen the tissue. I advise bathing the face in an astringent lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered sallote in a half pint of witch hazel. This is remarkably effective. Stella writes: "My complexion is horribly muddy. What shall I do for it?" Get an ounce of Merckel's wax at your druggist's. Apply this nightly like you'd use cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will cause the offensive cuticle gradually to make way by a process of gentle absorption, for the clear, velvety healthy-skinned skin underneath. Woman's Realm.

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS

Judge, the first baseman received from the Red Sox, is playing a great game for the Lowell club. His teammate, Radford, who was also promoted from Bill Carrigan's club, held Portland safe yesterday. Carrigan is quoted as saying that with another year's seasoning judge will go in the big show.

There was quite a little trouble in the ball park of the St. Louis Nationals yesterday. Bill Sweeney, last year's captain of the Cubs, touched it up some with Major St. Louis center fielder. The latter attempted to strike Sweeney when he thought the latter had put the ball on him with undue force. Sweeney saw him to the dirt for the count before the other players could interfere.

Looking over the records we find that two New England league managers hold world baseball records. Hugh Duffy, Pawtucket's manager, picked up the highest batting average for a catcher, .427, which stands as a record for his position. Duffy was with the Cleveland club.

Jim Coffey, former St. Louis pitcher, in the first round of their heavy eight battle last night in Philadelphia, less than two minutes, had elapsed when Coffey, sent over a right cross which finished the affair.

Joe Connelly, the Braves' left fielder, is rapidly proving himself one of the National league's most valuable outfielders. The little chap made one of the finest catches yesterday that was ever pulled off at the grade grounds when he pulled down Dexter's long fly in the first inning of the Braves-Braves game. Connelly also got two hits for a total of three.

President John J. Donovan and Secretary Edward J. Flanagan, both of this city, attended the opening game in the Massachusetts police league in Boston today. Lowell was certainly well represented at the cops' opener.

Matty Zieser hasn't gotten his eye on the plate yet and that is an odd thing to be the trouble with him. In every game that he worked for the Red Sox his control was very poor but he was not hit hard. If Carrigan keeps him until the real hot weather comes along the ex-Lowell slasher will look much better.

Nye, whom Manager Gray let go some few days ago, played first base for Haverhill yesterday and acquitted himself with credit. The recruit is a clever man around the first sack and should make a good man for Clancy. Nye hasn't done with Daniel yet, though, for he wants the same figure offered him by Gray.

Captain Burke's first error came in yesterday's game. The Lowell leader is usually the class of the league around that second cushion and can give away pointers to any of the boys playing his position.

Bob Kelley is a swell first baseman but he has a whole lot to learn about his position and the game in general. The field of the local club would do well to listen to advice from Captain Burke on the "inside" play. "Shorpy" Deo and Burke could use up Kelley and take make for better ball players.

Come on, boys. It's about time you went out there on to the ball field and showed a little finger. That infield chatter is too faint and tube DeGroff is the only one ever heard from in the outer gardens. Give your pitchers a little cheer when he's in there.

No, we are not discouraged yet. Manager Gray has a good club no matter what is said to the contrary. There are one or two points, of course, where it could be strengthened but the club is better right now than the majority of those in the league. Baseball luck has favored in several ways although it is too true that the club isn't hitting the way it should.

GAME IS PROTESTED

MANAGEMENT OF BRAVES KICKS ON SATURDAY'S GAME TO LEAGUE AUTHORITIES

NEW YORK, May 12.—The 2-9 game won on the Polo grounds last Saturday by the Braves has been protested to President Tamm of the National league by President James E. Griffith and Manager George Stallings of the Boston club. The test is based upon a decision of Umpire Rigler which allowed a "come catch" made by Shogren, on Whaling in the second inning. It was physically impossible for Shogren to have caught this ball, according to Stallings, who said he had ten reputable witnesses, seated in the right field grandstand, willing to make affidavits that Shogren "trapped" the ball. The play had an important bearing on the result of the game, the Boston manager contended, because it broke up what appeared to be a batting rally, a double play cancelling a run which had crossed the plate. Stallings said further that Tyler was interfered with by Doyle when Tyler was retired in a double play in the sixth, and also that four strikes were pitched to Meyer in the seventh before the giant catcher made a two-base hit, which won the game.

CONNIE ROACH BALKS

Connie Roach, the infielder released by the St. Louis Americans to the Lowell club last week, has refused to play at the Lowell club according to a telegram received this morning from St. Louis.

Roach, it seems, does not want to go into class I baseball and has announced that he would quit baseball before playing below the Class A standard. From the text of the message received today it is highly probable that he will ever consent to play with the local club.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

The perfection of realism is the only epithet that properly expresses the stamp of dramatic art witnessed at the Opera House last evening by the large and delighted audience attending Da-vid's presentation of "The Apportionment." The play, one of Mr. Wardfield's former successes, and now given in a somewhat modified form, holds the attention of the audience riveted upon the actualities of life as illustrated in the character of a New York and the assumption of the title role by Mr. Wardfield himself.

The insight given to some of the tricks of the trade, such as watering for a fire and water sale was refreshing. The plot of the play deals with Simon Levi, an immigrant, who by diligence builds up a prosperous business. His brother, more inaptitudes, lives above his means, marries a haughty woman, who delights in dress and high society. She conspires with her husband to ruin Simon and it is done through a diamond necklace on which a large sum of money is hoarded. After submitting the genuine necklace as security, the borrower by a dexterous trick substitutes an inferior imitation. Then when the note is paid and the necklace returned, he protests very stocky. He stands slightly over 5 feet and seven inches in height and weighs about 155 pounds. "Pete" is close to the six foot mark in height and tips the scales at about 170 pounds. The ex-western leaguer is slender although he carries beef enough in his shoulders to shoot the ball on the line to the catcher.

Wacob was born and brought up in California and now lives in Pasadena, Greenhalge was "raised" among the hills of Pennsylvania and is now a student at Lehigh university. He adopted the name "Thomas" when he signed with the local club so that he will not take part in college athletics instead of being barred as a professional. His right name, however, has been printed this season by some of the papers and when he returns to college next fall he will probably be barred from the football squad. He was variety actor, backstab last year.

Both catchers are youngsters, neither one of them having yet the right to cast a vote. This is Greenhalge's second year in professional baseball while Wacob has been playing pro ball for three seasons. There is a great chance that both of these catchers will be seen in faster company than Class

SCHOOLBOYS DEFEATED

HARVARD FRESHMEN—WILSON'S PITCHING A FEATURE

The local high school nine played a fast game yesterday when they met the Harvard Freshmen at the Stadium, but came home last night with the small end of a 5-4 score.

The college players were hardly more than a match for the local school boys. Walter Wilson, the mainstay of the Lowell high team, held them to seven scattered hits and if errors had not intervened with his box work it is highly probable that a different score would have been the result. The high school team rapped Garritt for six safeties.

Four errors piece which the contest was not a gift edged fielding affair but the majority of these misplays came at times when they had no bearing on the run column. Especially was this true of the home team's errors.

The winning run came across in the latter half of the sixth inning. With the score 4-1 Abbott came home from third on a steal which the run which proved a deciding tally. A protest was entered by the schoolboys who claimed that Abbott had been effectively blocked off at the plate by Edwards. The run was allowed, however, despite the protest. The score:

At Princeton—Johnny Kilbane vs. Jack O'Leary.

Of course, the main bout of interest to local fight fans is the coming rum-pus Thursday night between Phinney Boyle, the Lowell wonder, and Al Shubert, the New Bedford heaver, which will be staged in Lawrence. There are several other bouts, however, in which New England boxers will take part.

Mike Glover and Bill Flemings will swap two-hand punches at Augusta, Me. on Thursday night, before the members of the boxing club in that city. It will be a battle between two hard hitting boys who are always anxious to exchange with an opponent. Glover is picked as the favorite in the two six-round affairs.

At Abington on Friday night Young Jasper will meet Tommy Quill in another bout which will be watched with interest. Kid Alberts, on the same night, will stack up against the real thing in Syracuse when he meets Mike Gibbons. From the street it looks as though Alberts was in a suicidal frame of mind but you never can tell.

The winner of the Shubert-Boyle bout will probably be matched the following week with a Kid Chinkas of Manchester. Chinkas gave Young Morgan a severe mauling last week up there and looks like a real contender for premier honors in New England among the boys in his class.

Gardner Brooks will try his skill against the aggressiveness of Johnnie O'Brien Friday night before the University A. C. of Cambridge. The local boy should be in good shape for the bout as he has been working out with Phinney Boyle for the past week.

Billy Brooks, brother of Gardner Brooks, will box Johnny Duffy Thursday night in one of the preliminaries to the Phinney-Boyle-Al Shubert affair. Duffy is a tough customer and the local youngster will have to keep his head with him throughout the performance if he expects to be awarded the verdict.

LYNN ONCE MORE

Defeated Champions—Sent Two Lowell Pitchers to Dugout

Inability to hit Ted, infield errors and Lynn's timely batting of three Lowell pitchers lost the champions the game against the Shoemakers in their home ball yard yesterday afternoon by the score of 5-2.

"Pete" Wood started on the mound for Lowell but after McPherson had hit safely and Porter and Trent had both walked Maybalm went on the firing line. The blond hurler took the bad men's measure in this inning and retired them without a score but his delivery was slaughtered in the next session and Lohman was sent into the box.

His Texas was greatly hampered by several errors which the Lowell infield piled up in back of him but pitched good ball notwithstanding. Ted allowed the locals but four hits. The score:

TRACE YELLOW DOG FUND

At Inquiry Into Financial Operations of New Haven—Lobbying Against Panama Canal Act

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad was connected with lobbying against the provision of the Panama canal act prohibiting railroad owned ships from passing through the canal, according to testimony at the hearing today into the New Haven's affairs by the interstate commerce commission.

Timothy E. Byrnes, former vice-president of the New Haven, testified that $1000 paid to Clarence W. DeKnight, a Washington lawyer, by former Rear Admiral F. T. Howles, then president of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, for services in connection with the Panama legislation, in reality came from the New Haven treasury. The senate lobby investigating committee recently had DeKnight and Howles before it with relation to the transaction, but the New Haven's connection was not then brought out.

INQUIRY RESUMED
WASHINGTON, May 12.—Indications today were that the inquiry being conducted by the interstate commerce commission into the financial operations of the New Haven railroad and the Billard company soon would run its course.

"This is a case for the criminal courts," suggested one of the committee, "not for a civil proceeding. It appears doubtful whether, in a proceeding of this kind, the facts can be developed."

It is known that the department of justice is inclined not to approve of putting on the witness stand former President Charles S. Mellen and the subsequent directors of the New Haven—Louis Cass LeGrand, Wm. Docke-John, George E. Baker and George J. Colburn, Miller—and some of the members of the commission, it is said, doubt the feasibility of examining them at this time.

May Call Mellen
It is not unlikely, however, that Mr. Mellen may be called as a witness possibly today, although no time for his appearance yet has been fixed. He is in the city under subpoena.

William H. Lawrence of Boston, one of the largest individual shareholders in the Boston & Maine railroad, whose business is said to have depreciated nearly a million dollars through the transactions of the last several years, also is likely to tell his story to the commission.

Further efforts, it is understood today, will be made to trace to its source what was commonly referred to as "the yellow dog fund"—money which was raised, it is said, to be used, not merely to influence public sentiment in New England, but to influence legislation.

Byrnes Again Called
Upon resumption of the hearing today, Timothy E. Byrnes, a former vice-president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad was called to the stand.

"Did Mr. Mellen ever turn over to you money to be disbursed without vouchers?" inquired Chief Counsel Folk. "No," replied Mr. Byrnes, "at no time."

Mr. Folk submitted a voucher for $251.60 in favor of Sylvester Baxter, for 15,000 prayers.

"Prayers," mused Mr. Folk. "What did the New Haven want with 15,000 prayers?"

"It probably needed more than that," smiled Mr. Byrnes.

"This is a case for the criminal courts," suggested Mr. Folk. "Why were the appeals of the people being paid for by the New Haven?"

Praying for Rest

"I don't know about that," Mr. Byrnes replied. "The bill was paid by the New Haven. People were praying then, just as they are praying now, for a rest."

"Did you pay the Hilltowne association $3000?"

"I did not."

"The Hilltowne association," continued Mr. Folk, "will say for your information, purported to be an association of people, and it was financed by the New Haven road."

"That might have been," said the witness.

"What do you know about the activities of Louis & Tuttle?"

"I think not."

"When for all the thousands of dollars paid them they never went into court?" suggested Mr. Folk.

"No, I think they never appeared in court."

Questioned as to the employment of W. S. McNary of Boston, Mr. Byrnes said McNary was given about $1000 monthly for making a careful study of the probable effects of the Grand Trunk railroad coming into Boston, which was being considered.

Expert on Transportation

"McNary was an expert on transportation matters," said Mr. Byrnes, "and later was appointed a dock commissioner by the government. He made reports to us and advised that the New Haven company operate in bringing the Grand Trunk into Boston. He made speeches for years before chambers of commerce, trade boards and similar organizations."

"In whose behalf did he speak?"

"Generally in the interest of the public."

"Did his holding public position have anything to do with his employment?"

"At that time he held no public position. He was a clerk in a furniture store."

"Did you consider the advice of a clerk in a furniture store worth $1000?"

"Well, the state of Massachusetts seems to value his services."

Denounced New Haven

It was testified that McNary during the time he was paid by the New Haven was making addresses before various organizations in which he denounced the New Haven road.

"The money paid to McNary by the New Haven," said Mr. Byrnes, "was cutting for advice regarding the Grand Trunk situation and the general traffic possibilities of Boston."

"You didn't pay him to keep quiet?"

"The money paid him did not change his attitude."

The witness asked if he had any connection with the Panama canal bill, answered that he had not.

SLASHED THE CANVAS

MILITANT ARMED WITH HATCHET, SLASHES PORTRAIT BY SIR HUBERT VON KERKOMBH

LONDON, May 12.—A militant suffragette armed with a hatchet today seriously damaged a portrait by Sir Hubert von Kerkombh at the Duke of Wellington in the Royal Academy.

The woman who was standing looking at the painting, suddenly drew the hatchet from her muff and slashed the canvas three times before bystanders could intervene. An attendant promptly seized her and took her to the police station, where she said her name was Mary Ansell.

MURDER AND ROBBERY

BODY OF YOUNG DOCTOR FOUND ON THE RAILROAD TRACKS EARLY TODAY

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 12.—What the authorities of Allegheny county believe was a murder and robbery was uncovered early today when the body of George W. Goetz, aged 23, of McKeesport, was found on the railroad tracks near Hasking station. The head was crushed in and both feet had been cut off. Because no blood was found where the feet had been severed, presumably by a train, the authorities believe Dr. Goetz was murdered and robbed and that the body was then thrown on the tracks to hide the crime. The finding of the physician's empty wallet near the body strengthened the murder theory, in the opinion of the authorities.

RECEIVED INJUNCTION AGAINST INSURANCE COMPANY

BOSTON, May 12.—The Springfield Mutual Disability company was temporarily enjoined from doing business by Judge Hammond in the supreme court today upon the recommendation of Insurance Commissioner Hardison who claimed that the funds of the company had been diverted from legitimate purposes.

The injunction was also extended to the funds of the company, held by the Chicago National bank.

Assistant Attorney General R. S. Hoar, who represented the insurance commissioner, said that Mr. Hardison was satisfied the company was solvent, but that the trouble was with the officers. The pleadings in the case will be completed on Friday.

Representatives of the company will make an effort in the meantime to have the injunction removed.

MAN INTO HACK

Boy Injured When Cycle and Vehicle Collided Today

John W. Whalen, aged 15 years, of 22 Webster street, was thrown from his bicycle and seriously injured shortly before noon today when the bicycle which he was riding collided with a hack on Swift street. The ambulance was summoned and the lad was taken to St. John's hospital, where it was stated he was suffering from internal injuries.

According to witnesses of the accident, young Whalen was riding along the street at a fairly good rate of speed and was not aware of the approaching vehicle until too late to stop. The driver of the hack was also unable to bring his horse to a halt in time to avert the accident. Young Whalen was thrown from his wheel and picked up on the street in a very weak condition.

STRAIGHT TIPS

Passed to Housekeepers by Sealer of Weights and Measures

In a communication addressed to Commissioner Donnelly, Warren P. Rierdan, sealer of weights and measures, offers a few suggestions worthy the attention and acceptance of housekeepers.

He advises housekeepers to provide themselves with house scales and that when in doubt as to the business dealings of either retailer or wholesaler, to consult the sealer who will treat all such complaints confidentially. The letter:

James P. Donnelly, Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses.

Dear Sir: I respectfully call your attention to certain conditions which exist in this city that are remedied by a few simple rules. At the outset I wish to state that the housekeepers will cooperate with this department and they will find in settling their monthly accounts a larger credit column and at the same time more goods purchased. In addition to this will be the satisfaction of knowing that they have made their purchases in a business-like manner and have received only good quality but proper quantity.

Here is a little advice that might properly be conveyed to the woman who trades: Be a business woman. Give a housekeeper a list of the goods and measures. Check up all goods received to see that they are of the quality and quantity of the goods ordered. Do not accept measurements by fold.

Coal dealers are required by law to deliver to you a single receipt of weight delivered. Be sure you receive this certificate.

In buying meats demand that all trimmings be included with the meat. Give a correct check of goods cannot be made.

Supply yourselves with a good scale, about ten pounds capacity, weighing in ounces, a peck measure, a dry quart and a liquid quart.

This department will seal the above without charge, providing they are brought to the old Meun school, Broadway, within the following hours: Daily from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m., and Tuesdays from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.

When in doubt as to the business dealings of either retailer or wholesaler, having suspicion as to the quantity of goods delivered, consult in your own sealer and all such complaints will be treated confidentially.

This department wants and needs your cooperation in the cause of honest weights and measures.

Respectfully,

Warren P. Rierdan, Sealer.

TROUBLE WITH OFFICERS

SAYS ATTORNEY WHO ASKED AND RECEIVED INJUNCTION AGAINST INSURANCE COMPANY

BOSTON, May 12.—The Springfield Mutual Disability company was temporarily enjoined from doing business by Judge Hammond in the supreme court today upon the recommendation of Insurance Commissioner Hardison who claimed that the funds of the company had been diverted from legitimate purposes.

The injunction was also extended to the funds of the company, held by the Chicago National bank.

Assistant Attorney General R. S. Hoar, who represented the insurance commissioner, said that Mr. Hardison was satisfied the company was solvent, but that the trouble was with the officers. The pleadings in the case will be completed on Friday.

Representatives of the company will make an effort in the meantime to have the injunction removed.

with the general management. The railroad is asked to restore the 1 o'clock train from Boston and to try and arrange to have the train leaving Boston at 11:40 p. m. arrive here in time to catch the last electric cars. The train now arrives at 12:30 and that is too late to catch electric except Middlesex street cars as far as the car line.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 12:10 o'clock, 1 hour and 10 minutes behind schedule time.

The first business had to do with petitions of the Bay State Street Railway company for pole locations, widening of distance between tracks in Westford street, changing of curves in Gorham street, wire attachments, etc. Thomas C. Lee appeared for the company and Mayor Murphy announced that a hearing would be held Wednesday morning between the railway representatives and the municipal council, at which time the necessary articles of agreement will be entered into.

Several petitions for gasoline licenses were referred to the commissioner of public property and chief of the fire department.

Claims for personal injury and injury to property were properly referred.

Donnelly a Candidate

The following notification by John F. Donnelly of his candidacy for office of license commissioner was placed on file:

Notification as Candidate

To the Mayor and Municipal Council: Gentlemen—I send in my name as candidate for license commissioner. Mr. Hanson's term expires the first week in June. In placing my name for this position I believe it is giving the city a chance to elect a candidate who will take this office out of politics. There has been as you are all aware, a lot of controversy and friction in local politics for years. My candidacy and what I am known to stand for would eliminate all that and bring about a change with better results.

One thing which has been very apparent and very detrimental to the best interests of the city is the promising of votes to candidates far ahead and previous to the council meeting. No commissioner has any right to come any individual candidate until the members as a whole pass judgment as to their fitness, capabilities and general character.

John F. Donnelly, 7 Newhall st., Tel. 555-W.

An order to change the lines of Beacon street to meet present conditions as presented by the Appleton Co. was adopted.

The council authorized a notice to the city and inhabitants of the city that the city was to be ordered.

An order that certain streets be widened at the expense of the aldermen was adopted.

Mayor Murphy read Herbert H. Russell's report as park commissioner and the same was accepted and placed on file.

A contract for office and chisel stones entered into between the purchasing agent and L. P. Palmer of Granville, Mass., was approved.

A supplementary contract with John C. Palmer of the City of Lowell, Mass., for publishing the City of Lowell, was approved. The contract amounting to about $81. Another supplementary contract with Daniel H. Walker, representing an expenditure of $158.17, was approved.

City Clerk's Land

The C. R. Coburn Co. petitioned the municipal council for the use of land near the Market street building. The matter was referred to the city solicitor and the following report submitted by him was adopted:

May 12, 1914.

Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, Mayor, City of Lowell.

Concerning the petition of the C. R. Coburn company, requesting the use of certain land owned by the city of Lowell, I submit that I have examined the petition and the city records concerning said request and see no legal obstacle on the part of the city of Lowell to rent the portion of land requested by said company in its petition.

Mr. Coburn is willing to pay $50 a year for the use of the land and give a bond of indemnity saving the city of Lowell from any and all obligations and liabilities that might arise out of the use of said land by the said C. R. Coburn company.

Respectfully,

J. Joseph Hennessy, City Solicitor.

Hurd Street Tracks

The matter of the removal of unused railroad tracks in Hurd street, as petitioned for by Charles Stickney, was also referred to the city solicitor who reported that the railroad authorities receiving the following reply which was read by the mayor:

Mr. Joseph Hennessy, City Solicitor, Lowell, Mass.

Your letter of the 5th instant, addressed to the president, is received, and as soon as the matter of removal of tracks on Hurd street in Lowell, Mass., is re-considered, further reply will be made to you.

Yours truly,

A. B. Nichol, President's Secretary.

MEXICO SITUATION

the nation to the Americans who fell at Vera Cruz. The president arrived here at 7:30 o'clock. Secretary Bryan was emphatic in announcing, after a conference with the South American envoys, the government's determination to have Stillman released.

Lozano Island Incident

The Lozano Island incident was taken up by Secretary Bryan. He had before him this report from Rear Admiral Mayo at Tampico:

"Lozano Island has not been occupied. The Mexicans and some destroyers anchored there and other vessels have called there on a call. The Mexicans of Lozano Island deserted the ship and the Mexicans are now on the island for the benefit of navigation. I understand that the Mexicans may have organized swimming parties ashore."

General belief was expressed that this explanation would satisfy the United States and that the United States would not be taking any action against the Mexicans and would make it plain that the Mexicans' commander acted only to insure protection to shipping by maintenance of the lights.

Respectful of the cases of the South American envoys at Vera Cruz and the fact that the Mexicans had been in the possession of their respective countries, when it became known that General Funston proposed to try the men before a military court martial, the British minister in Mexico City expressed his disapproval. Secretary Garrison declared that he would not support any action that would put the United States in a position that would be taken by the Mexicans as a triumph.

Fighting at Tampico

Word was anxiously awaited today of the result of fighting at Tampico, where the Mexicans and the United States were in a deadly struggle for territory in which millions of Americans and British dollars are invested. Gen. Zaragoza, commander at Tampico, reported to Huasteca yesterday that the conditions had been defeated yesterday with heavy losses. It was believed that the Mexicans had been taking since then, and that the federal reports were not to be trusted.

The British were planning to renew their campaign in the north and Gen. Funston's army expected to conquer the federal garrison at Matamoros and establish his capital there, pending the final campaign against Mexico City.

Wilson to Meet O'Sullivan

Nelson O'Sullivan, late charge of the American embassy in Mexico City, was expected to have an interview with President Wilson today.

Associate Justice Lamar of the supreme court and former Solicitor General Charles Evans Hughes, who had been in the United States for some time, were expected to leave for Mexico today.

The envoys of Argentina, Brazil and Chile expected to leave Washington later in the week to complete the final program for the meeting at Niagara Falls.

NORMAL CONDITIONS

AT VERA CRUZ

VERA CRUZ, May 12.—While the Mexican commissioners are en route to attend the peace conference at Niagara Falls, Canada, and during the sessions of the conference, there will be no resumption of hostilities by the American forces here, and there is no reason to believe that the Mexican federals will advance their lines.

The recent charge by Gen. Blanquet that the Americans were breaking the armistice caused Gen. Funston to confer with his legal adviser, Col. Porter. Gen. Funston and Col. Porter agreed that while actually no armistice or truce either implying hostilities, which none but President Huerta admits, exists here, it is understood that neither side will engage in hostilities. So far as this agreement affects the movement of troops within their own lines Gen. Funston and Col. Porter declared that both the Mexicans and American forces had this right. It is understood that the American forces will move some of the Mexican troops towards the coast and behind the American lines such minor changes of position as are required will continue to be made. The interpretation placed upon the agreement by Gen. Funston and Col. Porter would permit of unlimited strengthening of both the Mexican and American forces so long as no advance was made.

American Forces Move

Slight alterations were made today in the position of the American forces to which the Mexican authorities might find objection, but which are regarded by Gen. Funston and Col. Porter as justified beyond any question of dispute. At the Tajar water works station there was a detached outpost. Between this post and the main

LOCAL MILL SITUATION

Uncertainty From Tariff Changes Affects Business But Mill Men See Good Times Ahead

What is the outlook in the local mills for the summer season? was asked a Sun representative today and at once he set out to find the answer.

The mills are at present adjusting their business to the new tariff and of course the transition period is one of more or less uncertainty.

While none of the mill officials claimed that the outlook was what might be termed very prosperous, yet they were a unit in declaring that it is not at all discouraging and at least a fair one. The fact that the tariff was better than other textile cities inasmuch as the tariff does not affect mills making coarse goods nearly as much as mills making very fine goods. In fact one of the mill men said he understood that mills manufacturing fine goods are thinking seriously of turning over to coarser goods.

The local mills are not running full in all of their departments, but in some of the mills certain departments are being rushed to the limit. The blanket department of the Tremont & Suffolk mills for instance is running day and night, while some other departments are about normal.

All of the departments of the Appleton and Hamilton mills are not running full, but the plants are being extended and while it is generally conceded that the profits are not very great, there is no such thing as apprehension of a general curtailment. "We are cutting more or less at the present time," said one of the mill men, "but we do not anticipate anything worse. The mills are not making any money at the present time, but we will pull through all right unless we should encounter serious labor trouble and then we would be in a bad way."

It cannot be said that business is booming at the local mills of the Lowell Carpet Co., but the market value of the stock has reached 175 1/2 against 155 a year ago, and this is due, it is stated, to an additional surplus of about $1,000,000 discovered by the present temporary treasurer. The carpet mills are running on short time and there isn't anything to warrant one in believing that there is any great, big rush in sight. The situation, to make a long story short, is still waiting on, and yet underneath it all there is a growing feeling that the country cannot remain much longer from buying its absolute wants which the increasing all the time because of the economy of the past.

When the new currency bill will have taken effect there will be a great loosening up of capital that will benefit the people generally and then if not before business is expected to boom.

Compiles Dividend Record

A dividend record of the Lowell Manufacturing corporations as compiled by James M. Abbott, investment banker, 2 Central street, is not altogether encouraging. The circular has been compiled to show the dividend record for the last 25 years of leading Lowell manufacturing corporations, the stocks of which are dealt in on the Boston and Lowell markets. The present par and market value, the amount of capital, the dividend months, the dates of incorporation and reorganization and the kind of goods manufactured are also indicated.

The column devoted to 1914 dividends up to date is pretty light and with very few exceptions the market value of the mill stock shows a decrease as compared with a year ago. The Appleton Co. shows an increase from 175 to 200 and the Massachusetts from 115 to 115. The Scott mills has fallen off from 15 to 15, the Hamilton from 55 to 55, the Lawrence Mfg. Co. from 155 to 155, Lowell bleaching from 130 to 125, Lowell hosiery from 25 to 25, Merrimack from 85 to 85, preferred, and 32 to 25 common; Shaw Stocking Co. from 75 to 75 and the Tremont & Suffolk from 110 to 101. This of course is due to the effect of the uncertainty resulting from the tariff changes and once the readjustment period shall have passed, an upward tendency will result.

A Quarterly Statement

In Fall River and New Bedford there are issued quarterly statements of mill dividends, but such statement is not issued in this city. In the Fall River

PINKLETS

To Clear the Complexion

One result of constipation is to disfigure the complexion with pimples and blotches. This is because poisons which should have been expelled from the body are retained. Cosmetics and ointments will not avail to clear such a complexion. The poisons which cause the disfigurement must be removed as nature intended.

To do this a laxative that will gently assist nature, but which will cause no retching or constipation to aggravate the trouble, is needed.

Pinklets, the dainty new laxative, quickly clear away all offending matter without the least griping or discomfort. So simple is their composition that they can be taken with any other medicine that is not in itself a laxative. In every household such a simple, safe machine is needed. Pinklets are tiny, sugar-coated granules, easy to take. Your own druggist can supply you. Sold in 25 cent bottles only. Pinklets are a corrective for bad breath, will clear the complexion, and are recommended for torpid liver, biliousness, headaches, constipation and whenever a gentle laxative is required. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for Pinklet book. It is free.

Globe of Saturday there appears a synopsis of the quarterly statement and the report states that the mill earnings in that city fell off a little more than $22,000 from those of the corresponding period of the previous year.

BOSTON, May 12.—Speakers at the banquet with which the Fusilier Veterans' association last night closed the celebration of their 125th anniversary, expressed willingness to rally to the flag in the event of war with Mexico.

Lieut. Governor Edward P. Barry said:

"I am a peaceful man with war-like inclinations. I am willing to take my place shoulder to shoulder with the humblest recruit who fights for his country."

Gardner M. Pearson, until recently adjutant-general of the militia, said his services were always at the disposal of the state and that he would give his three sons to the flag if necessary.

Brigadier-General E. Leroy Sweetser said the state troops were in line for active service.

The Fusiliers were aided in their celebration, which included a parade through the city and review by Governor Walsh, by several military organizations from other states. These included the Putnam Palanques, guards of New Haven, Conn.; Amoskeag Veterans of Manchester, N. H.; Newport Artillery Company of Newport, R. I.; Bristol Artillery of Bristol, R. MASS. MILITARY BOARD

REPORTS TO GOV. WALSH ON STATE OF MILITIA—NO ORDERS AGAINST ENLISTING MARRIED MEN

BOSTON, May 12.—The new board of survey, recently appointed by Governor Walsh to act as an advisory board on military matters, held a meeting at the state house yesterday afternoon after which they rendered their findings regarding the letter of Assistant Secretary of War Treckenknecht to Governor Walsh. The letter was received a few days ago by the governor, and called attention to the top-heavy condition of the Massachusetts militia.

What the recommendations of the board were in this matter was not made known last night. Governor Walsh will now take the matter up with the federal government.

Other plans for placing militia on a war basis were also taken up by the new board. Brigadier-General E. Leroy Sweetser presided.

Arthur Adjutant-General William S. Simmons stated yesterday that his office had not received any orders from Washington advising against enlisting married men in the militia.

Englishwomen's Beautiful Complexions

There is no nation in which the women live so easily as do the English and there is no nation in which the skin is so fair and clear. Under perfect natural conditions a well balanced life would guarantee a beautiful and healthy skin. But the ordinary social and economic American life of today forces the system to furnish so much vital force for action that nerves, eyes and complexion all suffer. In addition to this strain many women further abuse their skin by covering it with pore-clogging powder instead of doing the wise thing—that is, using a lotion which protects and smooths, without clogging the pores.

The English complexion suffers so much in summer in because powder does not offer sufficient protection against the hot sun. A plain spum-mo lotion not only safeguards the skin from the elements, but in itself is a beautifier of great worth. To prepare this lotion at home, dissolve a ounces spum-mo from drugstore in 12 and 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This applied to the skin becomes invisible and imparts a velvety softness and daintiness to a rough, faded skin, revealing that shiny, soft appearance, and its use will insure a clear, lovely complexion.

WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC

NOT AS BAD AS TRAFFIC IN WOMEN CONDUCTED BY MORMONS, SAYS D. A. McPHIE

BOSTON, May 12.—Duncan A. McPhie, secretary of the Massachusetts Council for Patriotic Service, declared at the council's annual meeting yesterday in the Park street church that the traffic in women and girls conducted by Mormons under the guise of religious conversion was more than the white slave traffic.

"In Greater Boston," he said, "there are 50 Mormon elders preaching their propaganda. Last year they did this to such an extent that 50 persons were sent to the county jail. When I think of this I shudder. The ministers and churches after a determined protest."

"This society was formed a year ago to strike a death blow to polygamy, because in Massachusetts, polygamy is becoming a harmful industry. Mrs. D. M. Dieckenderfer of the Women's board of missions in the Presbyterian church of Erie, Penn., also declared Mormonism is a menace to the country. She bitterly attacked Senator Samuel D. Chase and stated that he was the man who had the most influence on the floor of the United States senate today.

"Polygamy is not dead in the Mormon church; it is more alive today in Utah than it ever was," Mrs. Dieckenderfer declared. She said that since Senator Stuart went to the senate the Mormons have become practically fearless.

THE PINK BOLL WORM

PUBLIC HEARINGS TO BE HELD TO RESTRICT IMPORTATIONS OF LINT COTTON

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Public hearings will be held at the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., on May 13th on three proposed measures to limit the entry and manufacture of foreign lint cotton to the northern states. These measures, the department experts say, are made necessary by the danger of the introduction of the pink boll worm, one of the most serious cotton pests known. Since Hawaii is already infested with the worm, cotton from this territory will be included in the restriction.

It is also proposed to prohibit shipment of foreign lint cotton from the northern states to the south for use in southern cotton mills. The inconvenience that this measure will cause mill owners is said to be insignificant compared with the evil that would be wrought should the pink boll worm once establish itself in the cotton regions of the south.

This insect is found in India, the Straits settlements, Ceylon, Burma, German East Africa, Egypt and the Hawaiian Islands. Since its introduction into Egypt, about five years ago, its ravages have increased from year to year until in 1913 they amounted to more than those of all the other cotton insects combined. In severe cases the worm has been known to reduce the yield 50 per cent. In addition to this the amount of lint obtained from the seed is lessened from 15 to 20 per cent.

To keep this insect out the barring of cottonseed has been found insufficient, for a considerable number of infested seeds are usually found in the bales of lint. Since the cotton fields of the south are adjacent to many of the southern cotton mills, the danger from this infested seed is very great, and any of it find its way into the section. There is, moreover, every reason to suppose that the pink boll worm would adapt itself readily to conditions in this country. As a matter of fact its ravages might be even more disastrous than they have been elsewhere.

The new quarantines will, it is estimated, keep approximately 3500 bales of Egyptian cotton from the southern mills each year. For these reasons it is believed that the proposed restrictions will not work any great hardship on manufacturers and the authorities say that they are essential to the safety of cotton growers.

This Will Soon Banish All Objectionable Hairs

(Modes of Today)
Beauty specialists have discovered a new and simple method for eradicating the skin of objectionable hair and it is so simple that any application is required to obtain the desired results. A paste is made with powdered dolomite and water and applied for two minutes to the hairy surface, then rubbed off and the skin washed and dried. This treatment removes every trace of hair and leaves the skin firm and smooth. Disappointment will be avoided if you buy the dolomite in an original package.
